Help Laos As Neutral JFK Urges Asks Cooperation In Note to Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has strongly urged Soviet Premier Khrushchev to co-operate with the United States in making war-torn Laos a completely neutral nation, lest the conflict there explode into a much greater East-West clash.

Specifically, Kennedy wants Khrushchev to choke off the presently heavy flow of Soviet arms to the pro-Communist rebels in northern and eastern Laos before the United States decides it is compelled to launch a counter-buildup of forces under the pro-Western government of Premier Boun Oum.

Ready With Own Plan

The President was reported today to have advised Khrushchev that the United States is fully prepared to submit its own military assistance to Laos to screening by a commission composed of representatives of neutral nations, assuming that Khrushchev would agree to the same kind of supervision over Soviet arms aid.

Kennedy's position was made known to Khrushchev by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson who spent four hours with the Soviet premier in the city of Novosibirsk Thursday, it was reported here.

Thompson immediately returned to his headquarters in Moscow and set about drawing up a full report for Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He said it would be rushed to Washington. Administration officials declared it would receive prompt attention from the President.

Laos on Agenda Top

Diplomatic authorities here said that the Laos crisis was foremost among many subjects which the U.S. diplomat and the Soviet premier discussed. Thompson had carried a written message from Kennedy to Khrushchev expressing hope for an improvement in U.S.-Soviet relations and declaring Kennedy's complete confidence in Thompson.

In addition Thompson had detailed instructions on a wide variety of subjects, including the current crises which carry the greatest danger of direct military clashes between American and Soviet forces or forces backed by them.

OliveBridgeHome Badly Gutted by Blaze on Thursday

A flash fire originating in a kitchen heater practically gutted a six-room home on Route 213 near Olive Bridge Thursday afternoon, sending Mrs. Edmund Badenbach rushing into the yard to escape rapidly spreading flames.

The outer structure was left standing but the interior was "pretty well gutted."

Five Companies Respond

Five fire companies responded to the blaze through mutual aid, throwing some 15,000 gallons of water on the structure before bringing it under control. In charge at the scene was Chief Victor Merritt of the Vly-Atwood Fire Company. The house, located on the Olive-Marbletown town line, is in the Vly-Atwood Fire District.

Chief Albert Fox of the Olive Bridge, West Shokan and Shokan companies told The Freeman that fire broke out in the kitchen but swept through the one-and-a-half (Continued on Page 6, Col. 7)

START OF PANMUNJOM SCUFFLE — A North Korean major pushed Capt. William C. Lyons, right, of Lubbock, Tex., shortly before he struck Lyons in the face during meeting of the Military Armistice Commission at Panmunjom, Korea. An American soldier was slapped by a Communist guard who claimed the American stepped on his toe. Capt. Lyons investigated and got into the scuffle with the Korean officer. The U.N. Command protested to the North Korean Communists over the attack, which they said was unprovoked. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Tokyo)

Trio Nabbed at Pine Grove Plant May Be Part of Gang

Long hours and weeks of vigorous police vigilance resulted in an on-the-spot catch early today of three alleged burglars with past theft record.

Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Vogt, formerly of the FBI, said a fourth, believed to have been involved, escaped as police moved in on a reported burglary in progress at the Pine Grove Manufacturing Co., Inc.,

45 Pine Grove Avenue, the former Fuller shirt factory.

Believed Part of Gang
Booked on third degree burglary charges were Michael Christoforo, 23, of 350 Broadway, Howard Quick Jr., 20, of 28 Liberty Street, and Patrick Burke, 20, of 24 Smith Avenue. Vogt said the trio, although none admitted past record, is believed to be "part of a gang responsible for numerous burglaries" in Kingston and vicinity.

They were arraigned today at 3 a. m. before City Judge Aaron E. Klein, who fixed March 13 as hearing date to permit them time to obtain counsel. "Bail" fixed at $5,000 each for Quick and Burke, and at $25,000 for Christoforo, was not posted. The latter was awaiting sentence Monday on felony charges lodged in Sullivan County. He was under bail.

Taken at Gunpoint
Vogt said Burke was arrested "at gunpoint" when he attempted to break out of the rear of the building and was holding tools believed to have been used in the burglary. Quick and Christoforo were caught as they attempted to hide under a work table in the factory's basement.

Vogt, who was with the police, commended all for the intensified surveillance, which led to the arrests.

Entrance to the plant, he said, was gained "by prying open an overhead door leading from a loading platform in the rear of the building." A soft drink and candy machine were broken into and pry marks on two safes "indicated unsuccessful attempts to open them."

Officers at Scene
"Taking part in the arrests," said Vogt, were "officers of the Kingston Police Department, led by Chief Robert W. Murphy, along with Inspector William Driscoll, Corp. Edward Shannon and Trooper Charles Teelon, of the state police, and County Investigator Arthur Brown, or the sheriff's office."

All police units involved, Vogt said, "had been conducting an around-the-clock intensive investigation of many weeks duration in an attempt to crack the gang of burglars, who have been operating so extensively over the past several months. During the course of this investigation several business places, including the Pine Grove Manufacturing Co., had been under surveillance. This resulted in the arrests."

'Excellent Job'
As an observer on the scene, he said, he had high praise for all, emphasizing that it was "an excellent job." This, he added, was "one of the finest examples of police cooperation" he has observed.

Vogt felt that emphasis should be given the fact that Chief Murphy and his men for several months have been working 12 to 14 hours a day as often as seven (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Bills Would Make 26 New Seats in State High Court

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature would create 26 new seats in the State Supreme Court, under a series of bills before the Legislature.

The measures followed recommendations by the State Judicial Conference for more manpower in the state's courts to deal with crowded calendars.

The bills call for 10 new justices in the first judicial district (Manhattan and the Bronx) and six in the 10th district (Nassau, Queens and Suffolk).

There would be three new judges each in the 9th District (Westchester, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, and Rockland); the 8th district (Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauque, Erie, Genesee, Niagara, Orleans and Wyoming); and the 7th (Monroe, Cayuga, Livingston and Warren).

The deed recorded in the county clerk's office indicated that $165 in revenue stamps had been paid placing the sale in excess of $165,000.

The tract was originally sold by the Winstons on April 20, 1956 for approximately $200,000 to a self architect and two others with the Winstons holding the mortgage. The property was returned to Winston in a foreclosure sale on November 24, 1958.

The purchasers in 1956 were Robert Trent Jones of Montclair, N. J., real estate operator. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Board Vote Is 17 to 15 To Move Co. Welfare Department Downtown

At a long and torrid session of the Board of Supervisors Thursday night, a Democrat sponsored resolution was adopted directing that the Ulster County Welfare Department move to the former Cornell Building downtown after necessary improvements are completed.

Also hotly contested was the appointment of two members to the Board of Health, both appointments being sponsored by Democratic supervisors.

Named to the Board of Health were a former assistant district attorney, John J. Schick of 391 Albany Avenue and Edmund J. Demski of 85 Augusta Street.

Dissatisfaction was expressed over the manner in which the new two-way radio system has been maintained and by resolution the county attorney was authorized to notify the bonding company. Final payments are to be withheld pending clarification of this matter. A new maintenance contract is to be prepared and bids solicited for maintenance contract.

Long Caucuses Held
The session, which lasted until 1:15 a. m., was late getting started when long and heated caucuses were held by both parties. The caucuses had been preceded by an equally heated meeting of the Two-Way Radio Committee.

It was by a vote of 17 to 15 with Republican Chairman Robert F. Phinney of the 11th ward voting with the Democrats, that the resolution sponsored by Supervisor Joseph Turck (D), fourth ward, calling for renovation of the Cornell Building to accommodate the Welfare Department, was approved.

The adoption of the resolution calling for the move was hotly contested by Republican members of the board, several of whom called the downtown building a "rattrap," a "firetrap," and calling the move to the downtown building a move from one rattrap to another. Some said the Democrats would live to regret their action.

McHugh Says Move Temporary
Majority Leader Jesse McHugh, (R), Shawangunk, who is chairman of the Building Committee, presented a report in which no total estimate of renovation costs were given, but he inferred the cost would be excessive.

McHugh said the move would be only temporary and he said he was still working for, and had hopes there would shortly be a new county office building to house all departments.

Appointment of Schick and Demski to the Health Board after Majority Leader McHugh withdrew his name from a "joint resolution" and Minority Leader John J. Gaffney (D), Lloyd, then presented the name of Demski to succeed Edmund J. O'Reilly, resigned, for the "unexpired term."

Moves to Extend Term
It was then contended that O'Reilly's term had expired, December 31, 1960, and Supervisor James T. McCordle (D), Ninth Ward, moved to amend the Gaffney resolution and make the appointment of Demski for a six-month term. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Ammonia Fells 12 Dutchess Workers At Packing Plant

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) — Twelve employees of the Seneca Packing Co., a meat distributing firm, were felled Thursday by ammonia gas from a leaking valve in a refrigeration unit.

Nine were kept overnight in St. Francis Hospital, where their conditions were reported good today. The other three were released from the hospital after being treated.

The plant, which has about 50 employees, was reported operating normally today.

2 Labor Men Favor Using Federal Jobless Pay Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Two New York State labor leaders say the state should abandon, in favor of a federal program, its jobless insurance extension plan to help idle workers.

Both programs call for a 13-week extension of unemployment insurance payments.

Under the New York program, additional benefits would not begin until the number of persons who exhausted regular benefits in a 13-week period reached 1 per cent of the insured employment.

Misleading He Says
This requirement is misleading, Louis Hollander, chairman of the executive council of the State CIO-AFL, said Thursday.

He told a conference on unemployment that the so-called "trigger point" was activated by state, not local, conditions.

"For instance," he asserted, "the people of Amsterdam must wait until the whole state is on a starvation diet before they can get assistance."

Amsterdam Suffers
Delegates to the one-day meeting said approximately 14 per cent of the labor force in Amsterdam was unemployed. The city is one of the state's most depressed areas.

Hollander called for a nationwide campaign for a shorter work week which, he said, would end the recession and ease unemployment caused by automation.

"Put the people back to work by a shorter work week. Start a movement for this. That's the only way out."

Harold C. Hanover, president of the State CIO-AFL, said a combined and interrelated program of action was needed to "cushion the shock of job shrinkage, to improve the state's use of human, financial and natural resources (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Afros Push For Debate On Congo

Big Powers Still Locked on Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — African delegates to the U.N. General Assembly pressed today for immediate debate on the Congo as the big powers remained deadlocked over whether to take up cold war issues at the Assembly session.

Impatient Over Hagglng
Leaders of the powerful African group, impatient over the haggling between the Soviets and the West that is delaying the Assembly, were trying to convince other delegates that since the Congo must be discussed, it should be discussed now.

The Africans argued that this would keep the Assembly moving and give the major nations time to work out some agreement on the agenda. But agreement at this stage appeared remote.

No nation has yet asked that the Assembly take up the Congo, but Ghana and a number of other African nations are reported trying to muster support for a debate early next week. Yugoslavia, whose foreign minister, Koca Popovic, arrives today, is said to have thrown its support behind the move.

Seven Congo Proposals
The Assembly has before it several Congo proposals—the latest presented at the reopening of the Assembly Tuesday by President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, who wants the U.N. Congo operation put under a "primarily African" command.

The Soviet Union has proposed that all U.N. forces get out of the Congo within a month.

40-Inch Snow Blankets Maine, State Fall Is 13

Kingston's latest snow was disappearing fast today but the outlook was different in the upper section of New York State, where the total fall was recorded at 13 inches and in the northern parts of Maine under the cover of a 40-inch fall.

May Vote Looms On Housing Bill, Some Shifts Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress talked today of enacting President Kennedy's $3.25 billion housing program by May—but acknowledged it would not be easy.

Even before the President sent up the actual legislation to be considered, there were signs that Congress might make changes in his proposals, now heavily weighted toward halting decay in cities and easing the housing problems of lower-income families.

Senate to Move First
The two Alabama Democrats who head the housing subcommittees of the Senate and House, Sen. John J. Sparkman and Rep. Paintings by Prisoners Will Be Shown at Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than two score paintings will be exhibited here this summer but their creators will not be on hand. All are behind prison bars.

The Albany Institute of History and Art is selecting the work of 40 to 50 of the amateur, prison artists.

"It is as good as any amateur painting that I have seen anywhere," says Miss Janet MacFarlane, institute director.

Starts June 20
"The work is composed, it is colorful, it shows sensitivity," she says. "Most of the work depicts landscapes, flowers or people. For the most part it is realistic, with very few abstracts—and those few are 'wild'."

The paintings, to be shown June 20 to Sept. 17, were done by prisoners at Green Haven and Wallkill State Prisons.

The inmates receive instruction and paint after their day's regular work is finished. They set up easels in their cells, under artificial light.

Most use oils, but some choose watercolors or pencil sketching.

Use Old Sheets
They cannot afford canvas. They usually substitute muslin salvaged from worn-out prison sheets and stretch it over frames made in prison shops.

Approximately 400 "convicts in the state's 17 prisons and reformatories have taken up art. This is about 2 per cent of the prison population, Correction Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis says.

Get Instruction
The prisoners at Green Haven, a maximum-security prison at Stormville, Dutchess County, receive art instruction from Harold L. Dunn, the prison's supervisor of education.

11 Kivu Leaders Freed, Gizenga May Be Out

Speculation Stirs Over Shift in Congo Regime

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Eleven captured leaders of Kivu have been released from a Stanleyville jail where they had been held since leftists seized their province last year, the United Nations said today.

While this indicated a change in attitude by the rebel regime, the U.N. command was unable to confirm reports from the leftist capital that Moscow-backed Antoine Gizenga had been deposed there.

Both Lumumba Backers

Those reports said either the rebel military commander, Gen. Victor Lumumba, or President Jean Foster Manzikala of Oriental Province had taken over. Both are considered firm supporters of the policies of the late ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

But both were reported to have rigorous measures to prevent reprisals against whites in Stanleyville after Lumumba's slaying last month in Katanga Province. Manzikala also has strong tribal backing in Stanleyville, something Gizenga never had.

U.N. spokesman reported the release of Jean Miroho, former president of Kivu, and 10 members of his provincial government. Miroho had paid at least lip service to the central government at Leopoldville and had resisted pressure from Stanleyville in neighboring Oriental Province to join up with Gizenga. Gizenga sent in a raiding party last December, arrested Miroho and his officials, and took control of Bukavu, the provincial capital.

Negotiations Continue

In Leopoldville, the U.N.'s Congo mission continued negotiating with Congolese leaders on the terms for the return of U.N. troops to the key ports of Banana and Matadi.

The U.N. spokesman told newsmen he could not comment on Congolese reports that agreement had been reached by which the United Nations and the Congolese would exercise joint control of air traffic here. This was one major Congolese condition for permitting U.N. forces to return to the ports.

Maj. Gen. Sean McKeown, Irish commander of U. N. forces, was reported to have agreed to a form of joint control over U. N. air traffic in the Congo.

No Details Given
The Congolese informants gave no details of the reported agreement. Nor did they say whether the Congolese were modifying other conditions they said must be met before they would allow U.N. troops to return to the port of Matadi, from which a Sudanese garrison was driven Sunday after two days of fighting.

Other major Congolese demands for opening up Matadi, where 33 U. N. ships are expected within the next week or so, were: (1) Joint control over other strategic points held by U. N. forces; (2) that all permanent movements by U. N. troops be subject to Congolese approval.

McKeown and Rajeshwar Dayal, Indian chief of U. N. mission, were negotiating here with acting Premier Albert Delvaux and Foreign Minister Justin Bomboko, who are heading the Leopoldville government while President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo are attending the Congo political conference at Tananarive, Malagasy.

Dag Refreshes Kasavubu

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld meanwhile sent a sharp message to Kasavubu in effect rejecting any Congolese control of the U. N. force's activity. He reminded Kasavubu that his government had pledged to give the U. N. force freedom of movement.

The conference in Tananarive was reported shaping up what in effect would be a federation of autonomous Congolese states, replacing the centralized control from Leopoldville which in fact has not functioned since shortly after the Congo gained independence from Belgium last summer.

Details were left to be worked out at a later conference, but Ileo told newsmen the leaders had agreed to the principle of creating new states in the Congo to take their place alongside existing states. Other leaders indicated the conference had agreed to accept the political divisions prevailing for the time being.

The delegates pushed ahead with their blueprint in defiance of leftist Antoine Gizenga's regime in Oriental and Kivu provinces.

Only One Missing

Gizenga, whose Stanleyville regime is supported by the Communist bloc and some African neutrals, is the only government figure missing from the meeting. After indicating he would attend, he changed his mind and snubbed the conference.

His enemies at the conference—Kasavubu, President Moise Eschombe of Katanga and Albert Kalonji of South Kasai—are trying to trim him down to the status of a minority leader and a rebel against the majority of the country's leadership.

Kasavubu, Tshombe and Kalonji also united in a blast at one of their chief foreign opponents, President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana. The conference sent Nkrumah a cable telling him to stop mixing in Congo affairs and changing him with arrogantly assuming to talk for the Congo to further his own personal ambitions in Africa.

No Specific Site Chosen Yet For New Rondout Creek Span

Discussion here Thursday of relocation of the Rondout Creek Bridge indicated that preliminary planning has not yet reached the point of designating a specific site.

This came of an afternoon session held by Mayor Edwin F. Radel to discuss the project with state public works men, and at a night session it was emphasized that "the city stands to gain a considerable amount of credit for its urban renewal project from a successful school building program with the city."

Elmore C. Yallum joined the mayor in the afternoon session with the state men and representatives of Raymond & May Associates, and the night meeting, emphasizing the school program, was attended by planning board members, eight aldermen, Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly and Raymond & May spokesmen.

Bridge plans, as discussed, indicated that the state is considering a spur connection with routes 9W and 32 with a city-

Higher-Education Plan Now Headed for Assembly

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller's controversial, higher-education plan was headed today for Assembly approval after Senate passage, 47-7.

The $38-million program calls for a $26-million-a-year plan of state grants to 121,000 college students and doubling the number of Regents scholarships to 17,000 a year at an added cost of $12 million annually.

The Senate approved the measure Thursday in the wake of a three-hour, heated debate that saw a resurgence of charges that the student-grant program was unconstitutional because it would encompass students at college affiliated with the Roman Catholic and other churches.

The State Constitution bars state aid to sectarian schools. Sen. George R. Metcalf, R-Albany, one of three Republicans who opposed the bill, said a Catholic priest had threatened to oppose his re-election if he voted against the measure.

Aware of Consequences
"I am fully aware of the political consequences of my stand," Metcalf said in what was considered one of his strongest statements on the Senate floor.

He said a massive effort was under way to obtain public funds to support religious schools. Support for the student-aid bill, Metcalf said, was "being encouraged by the Catholic clergy."

But most of the 58 Republican and Democratic senators agreed with the governor and their respective party leaders that the student-aid plan was constitutional and a necessary step to help New York State youth obtain a college education despite constantly rising costs.

Will Continue Efforts
At the same time, several Republican senators who supported the higher-education bill said they

Sullivan Offers to Debate Paar on Performers' Fees

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Sullivan, offered today to take his price war with Jack Paar over performers' fees before the late-night television public and to debate Paar on Paar's own show.

Sullivan, star of a show on CBS, made the offer in answer to Paar's challenge that the two settle their differences by staging a rating duel.

Issues Challenge
Paar issued the challenge on his nationwide NBC-TV program Thursday night, suggesting he appear on the NBC network from 8 to 9 p. m. some Sunday against Sullivan and see who gets the higher audience rating.

The feud stems from a statement Sullivan made Thursday. He said he would cut the salaries of performers who collect thousands of dollars for appearing on his show and then perform on Paar's informal program for the minimum scale of $320.

Sullivan said he had nothing against performers going on the Paar show to talk. But it was unfair, he said, for performers to ask—and get—as much as $7,500 for a performance from him and then do the same work for Paar for the minimum.

Cancels Appearance
One performer scheduled to appear on the Paar show Thursday night, comedian Myron Cohen, canceled at the 11th hour because of the Sullivan ultimatum.

Stung by Sullivan's stand, Paar told his audience: "Ed Sullivan today declared war on this show." Reading a letter that he had sent to Sullivan, Paar said he was "appalled" that the CBS star had raised the question of performers' fees.

Given First Chance
"I don't have the money to pay performers what you do," Paar said. "This show is a low-budget freak that caught on because performers want to come on and want time to entertain people."

Paar said he had given many

Board Vote Is 17 to 15 to Move

year term, beginning January 1, 1961.
Demski's name had been presented at the February meeting of the board but Republicans objected.

A controversy over the legality of the amendment was raised since the amendment did not come before the board as a recommendation from the Health Committee. However, on the vote on both the amendment and the amended resolution the vote was unanimous, with Chairman Phinney abstaining.

Republicans Object
When Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, moved a resolution in which the name of Schick was contained to succeed O'Reilly, and he asked that the name of O'Reilly be stricken and the name of Harry Kaplan, former president of the Health Board be substituted there was vigorous objection from Republican members.

It was contended that through substitution of the name of Kaplan as the man to be succeeded by Schick, that it was in reality a "new resolution."

Majestic sought to have Schick named for the five year unexpired term of Kaplan. His resolution was finally adopted by a 17 to 15 vote with Chairman Phinney (R), supporting the Democratic move.

Called Move to Circumvent
Before the final vote the action of Majestic in substituting the name of Kaplan for O'Reilly, as the vacancy to which Schick was to be appointed, was called by Supervisor Alexander Banyo (R), Ulster, an attempt to circumvent the rules of the Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, chairman of the Health committee, opposed the action of Majestic. Majestic contended he had his resolution in at the proper time and was seeking now only to substitute the name of Kaplan for that of O'Reilly since the O'Reilly term had been filled by Demski under the previous resolution.

Williams contended it was a new resolution, that he never was informed by the chairman of the Board of Supervisors that a vacancy existed because of the resignation of Kaplan.

Objects to Method
Majority Leader McHugh (R), Shawangunk, publicly offered an apology to Chairman Phinney when he said he would be unable to keep a "promise" he had made to him some time ago to vote for Schick. He said because of the manner in which the resolution had been amended, he would have to void his promise and he voted against the appointment of Schick. McHugh called the move "good politics" by the Democrats, they had gained appointments to the health board for five and six year terms, but he said he could not go along with the "method" since he did not "believe" in amendments such as made in this instance.

A suggestion that Supervisor Benjamin A. Storms (R), second ward, be continued as a member of the Board of Health as the Supervisor representative, was made by Supervisor Gaffney but that action was postponed when Supervisor Abram F. Molyneux (R), Woodstock, said the board should return to "regularity" and postpone that action until the next meeting in order to comply with the rules. He said Storms was the logical man but he asked that proper procedure be followed.

Turck Proposes Move
A storm broke loose when Supervisor Joseph Turck (D), Fourth ward, offered his resolution that County Commissioner of Public Welfare Joseph Fitzsimmons prepare plans for needs of his department in the Cornell Building which the county acquired for $25,000 some time ago and which has never been used, and that the county advertise for bids for alteration work and that the Welfare Department be "moved" to move downtown.

However, the resolution was adopted by a 17 to 15 vote with Chairman Phinney voting with the 16 Democrats.

Supervisor Banyo (R), Ulster, said the building had been bought without any knowledge as to cost of alterations and he called upon the board to await a report by McHugh's committee on alterations costs. He also objected to the commissioner of Welfare being asked to draw up any plans for his department's use, saying it was placing responsibility in the wrong place.

McHugh's Objections
On the roll call Majority Leader McHugh opposed the move and presented a number of arguments against the move.

McHugh said since the building had been bought, insurance amounting to $239.80 had been paid and the insurance will be greater if the department moves in. The dock in the rear of the building needs replacement by order of the Coast Guard. The rear cannot be used under present conditions and there is present danger to the building of "collapsing." A high tide water comes in the cellar. With one tenant in the building the cost from September 1, 1960 to December 31, 1960, was $2,550.76. There is no hot water in the building and one boiler cannot be used. To replace it would cost $10,000. The remaining boiler is in fair condition and is now bearing the entire load of the building.

To use the building an elevator is essential. This would cost more than the purchase price McHugh said. A sprinkler system should be installed. One of the most serious objections, McHugh said, was that to enter the building one must cross a railroad track directly in front of the entrance and every time a train goes by the building vibrates. He also said it was questionable as to whether the State Social Welfare Department would approve the move.

Refers to Kennedy Proposal
McHugh called attention to a request of President Kennedy that all counties and Board of Supervisors proceed with construction programs to alleviate unemployment. He urged serious thought for a new County Building to house all departments now overcrowded and outdated.

McHugh said the Republican Party stands ready to offer a progressive step in a program for county construction, including a new county office building.

McHugh commented on the interest of the "city supervisors" who have emphasized the fact that to use the Cornell Building downtown would "revive a depressed business area of the City of Kingston." He asked why the "administration had not bought a building if it was such a bargain and move some of its departments to alleviate this 'serious city problem'."

Expensive Politics, He Says
Many county areas would like their neighborhood revitalized by the county purchasing a building in their area. He called the move behind the Democratic action, "purely political politics at the expense of the taxpayer."

In conclusion McHugh, in a lighter frame of mind, said that if the county would build a new office building and move its government to Wallkill, he felt sure he could raise from the people of that community "half the cost of such a building," in donations.

He said he would soon have figures for a renovation plan for the building and would submit it to his committee for consideration.

While the board had delayed action on a county building over the past several years, costs to the county had risen from about $1,200,000 to perhaps $2,500,000. He pointed out that two plans were under consideration as to location of a new building.

One plan was to build on the court house site, the other on the Main Street site. If the Main Street site were adopted there would be need for temporary quarters and the Cornell Building could well be used during construction.

A building on the court house site, now being considered, would eliminate only parking space for 15 cars, McHugh said. Several other Republican supervisors expressed opposition to the Turck resolution.

In defense Turck said there was ample parking facilities downtown which could be developed. He proposed three floors of the building be renovated and the fourth used for storage. He said renovations could be made for $20,000, including a fire escape. He submitted figures from a contractor. Plumbing would cost an additional $8,000. The estimate Turck referred to was by a construction company on Chapel Street.

Supervisor Peter Williams (R), Saugerties, referring to the cost to taxpayers said the people of the towns of Wawarsing and Saugerties pay together more county taxes than the city by $57,000. He said total cost of the Cornell Building to properly put it in shape could easily reach $300,000.

Several reports by county departments were filed and may be examined at the clerk's office.

Earl Conro, president of Phoenicia Fish and Game Association, expressed appreciation for fees allocated by the county to buy feed for deer this winter.

Two tons of deer were bought and distributed in addition to four tons the club purchased.

Giants' Former Home Is Doomed, Housing Coming

NEW YORK (AP)—The Polo Grounds, scene of many memorable sports events dating back to the gay 90's, is doomed.

The Board of Estimate Thursday approved plans of the New York City Housing Authority to build a 1,700-family, low-rent project on the site. However, demolition will not begin for 14 months, permitting scheduled 1961 sports events, such as the New York Titans' games in the American Football League, to be held.

The Polo Grounds, the home of the New York baseball Giants before they shifted to San Francisco after the 1957 season, thus is faced with the same fate that met the old Polo Grounds before they trekked to Los Angeles after the '57 major league season. The Polo Grounds was demolished last year to make way for a housing project.

Many of boxing's most famous heavyweight title bouts were fought at the Polo Grounds. And only last June it was at the Polo Grounds that Floyd Patterson became the first ever to regain the heavyweight title when he flattened Ingemar Johansson in the fifth round.

Says Vaccine Outdated

HAVANA (AP)—U.S. Navy authorities gave outdated polio vaccine to Cuban Red Cross workers fighting polio in eastern Cuba, the semi-official newspaper Revolucion charged today.

The newspaper charged the vaccine—delivered Tuesday—carried a sticker showing its expiration date was Dec. 1, 1960. A picture of the purported sticker was published.

Delivery of such vaccine proved President Kennedy's "cynicism," the newspaper said, and was "a vile attempt to make political propaganda."

Auxiliary Police Won't Meet 13th, But Officers Will
Because of the recent death of its chief, Ben Orkoff, there will be no regular meeting of the Kingston-Ulster Unit Civil Defense Auxiliary Police next Monday.

This was announced today by Acting Chief Irving Kotrady, who requested all officers and non-commissioned officers meet with him that night at 7:45 in the city court room to discuss important items.

One Charge Withdrawn

An assault charge against Moses Harrell, 25, of 53 Van Buren Street, lodged Feb. 23 by Evella Harrell, was withdrawn in city court today, but he was given a suspended sentence of 180 days in jail plus probation on the charge that he resisted arrest. The latter charge was by Officer Leon Fitzgerald. Louis F. Brown, 54, of Red Hook, charged with driving an unlicensed vehicle, was fined $5.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—For several years now, prophets have been predicting a decline in popular favor of the television western. And maybe, just maybe, 1961 is the year when the fad really will begin to pass.

There is one important sign: So far the three television networks have announced a total of 21 new shows which they plan to put on their fall schedules. Not one is a western.

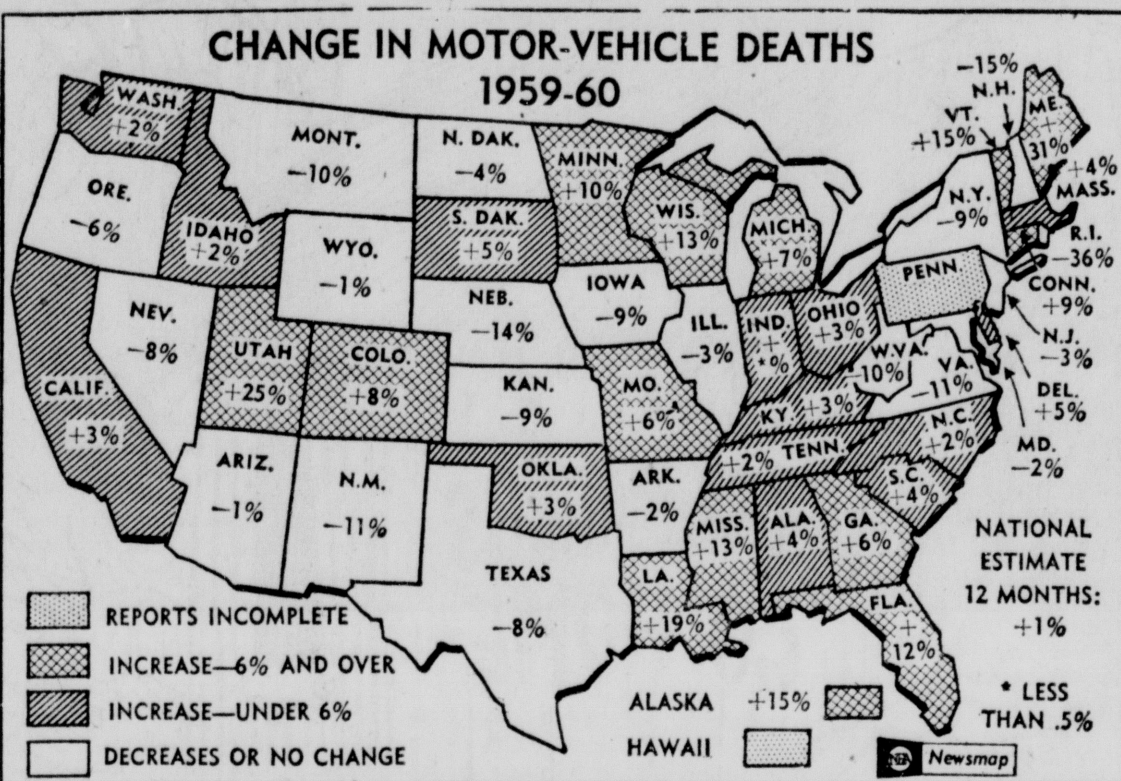

However, the interest in action stories, mostly police and adventure tales, apparently is stronger than ever: 12 have been announced. And eight new situation comedy series have been picked up—two of the animated cartoons stimulated by the success of ABC's "The Flintstones" this season.

Here are some of the derring-do shows we can expect following the summer slump of re-runs: "The Impatient Ones," a story of the World War I Lafayette Escadrille, produced by Quinn Martin, late of "The Untouchables," another period piece; "Las Vegas Beat" and "Las Vegas," crime-and-games in Nevada—the first an NBC series, the second an ABC program; "The New Breed," about the Los Angeles police M-squad; "87th Precinct," police action in New York City; "Small Town D. A." and "The Defenders," the first an ABC legal-action tale, the second a father-son lawyer series on CBS; "The House on Rue Riviera," skulduggery in the south of France.

Among the incoming situation comedy series are a new Bob Cummings series, a new Robert Young series, the Gertrude Berg-Sir Cedric Hardwicke series, "Mother Is a Freshman," the Dick Van Dyke series, a series tentatively called "Snow Whites" for NBC, about a pair of police car cops, and three animal series, "Top Cat" and "Calvin and the Colonel," both cartoon programs, and "The Hathaways," starring some chimpanzees.

Chalk up another bad year - - -

Motor vehicle deaths throughout the country increased 1 per cent in 1960. That's the simple statistic. It means that 300 more persons were killed (38,200) than in 1959. In addition to fatalities, 1960 motor vehicle accidents caused about 1,400,000 disabling injuries, not including millions more minor hurts. Property destroyed and damaged totaled $2,150,000,000. Newsmap lists state-by-state percentage changes in deaths. National Safety Council posters are a plea for a better future.

Early Education Tax Opposed

Message Opens School Aid Question All Over

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy's education message to Congress has opened anew the question of federal aid to parochial schools.

The President's bill did not include such aid, he explained in the message, "in accordance with the clear prohibition of the Constitution."

The message stirred prompt reaction from the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church whose nearly 15,000 elementary and high schools educate about 5 million students.

To Press for Loans

The Catholic bishops and cardinals said they would press for long-term federal loans which they contend "would be strictly within the framework of the Constitution." They said they would oppose the education measure unless it contained some such provision.

At his news conference Wednesday, the President said he felt direct grants were clearly unconstitutional and in his view so were loans, though the question of loans had never been tested in court and on this point "there's obviously room for debate."

Actually, few clauses in the Constitution have been the subject of more emotional debate than the 10 words which spell out the entire doctrine, as it is called, of separation of church and state: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

Parochial Argument

Debaters in the parochial school aid issue generally argue along these lines:

Opponents say direct federal aid to parochial schools means illegal use of tax funds to advance sectarian ends in school systems over which the public has no control and to which parents send their children strictly by choice.

The other side replies parochial schools meet the same basic educational standards as public schools and federal aid would be for the purpose of raising the level of education nationally with only incidental benefit to the religious organizations.

The Everson Case

A number of Supreme Court cases have involved interpretation of the "establishment of religion" clause, notably the Everson case which President Kennedy cited to support his position.

This was a 1947 decision in which the court held, 5-4, that it was legal for public school buses to transport parochial school pupils because the funds were used for the welfare of the student, not the school.

The majority opinion also said the "establishment of religion" clause meant that neither federal nor state governments "can pass laws which aid one religion, aid all religions, or prefer one religion over another," and that no tax "can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions."

The language of the opinion, apart from the decision, was applauded by many churchmen but also drew criticism from some.

Church School First

America's public school system evolved from the early church schools, and in the 1830's a hue and cry was raised against levying taxes to support public schools. "Excepting the battle for the abolition of slavery," comments Encyclopedia Britannica, perhaps no question has ever been before the American people for settlement which "aroused such bitter antagonisms."

Hilleboe to Ask Year's Delay in Ban of Raw Milk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe plans to ask for a one-year delay of an order banning the sale of raw milk in New York State.

Raw milk now may be sold in towns of less than 10,000 population.

The State Public Health Council has ordered a statewide ban on sale of the product, effective April 1.

Hilleboe said Thursday he would ask the council to postpone the effective date "so as to permit ample time for further study of the problems involved."

Several groups, he said, had asked for an opportunity to express their views.

The commissioner commented in a statement opposing legislation that would require the Public Health Council to hold hearings on proposed changes in the state's sanitary code. The measure, approved by the Senate, now is before the Assembly.

Hilleboe, a member of the eight-member council appointed by the governor, said that in its 45 years the council had "always acted with due care and deliberation, fully cognizant of its great responsibilities."

He said the legislation would weaken the effectiveness of the council in the maintenance and improvement of public health in the state.

Moves to Oppose Jobless, Vacation Pay at One Time

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An appeals court proposes revision of the unemployment insurance law that allows workers to collect, in some instances, jobless benefits and vacation pay at the same time.

The law should be revised to prevent injustices to employers, the Appellate Division, Third Department, of State Supreme Court said Thursday. Employers finance the unemployment insurance system.

The court made the appeal in ruling in favor of Bruno Miranda of New York City, a hardware trimmer for Crown Leather Goods Corp., of Maspeth, L.I. Miranda was granted unemployment benefits for two weeks in 1959 and collected vacation pay for one of the weeks.

The Appellate Division said its ruling apparently was unjust but required by law.

The State Labor Department said that, in some cases, workers in plants that shut down for periods are eligible to collect unemployment benefits for the period in which they were idle, even though they received vacation pay for some of the period.

The jobless benefits are barred to those who receive vacation pay for their entire vacation and who are employed, before and after the vacation, by the firm that supplied the vacation pay.

Shipping Prices

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—You can ship a small camel from Calcutta to Hampton Roads for $44.25 less than a small elephant.

States Marine Isthmian Lines quoted the rates recently in a price list sent to a Virginia company called Zoorama, Inc., at New Market.

Nothing's come of it yet, but one can never tell.

And just in case the question is asked, "What's a small elephant?" the price list answers that too. It's an elephant that's shorter than five feet to the shoulder.

A big elephant, now, is a different matter. It costs $605 from Calcutta, $87.75 more than a camel.

No mention was made of the cost for an elephant's trunk.

$900 For a Nickel

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Joe Wiles, 17, spent a nickel on a good deed and won $900.

He spotted an expired parking meter, dropped in a nickel and was arrested when he refused to tell officers whether the car was his.

Thursday that the youth violated no ordinance—even though the car belonged to a stranger. It ordered the arresting officers to pay the youth $450 each. He had sought $5,000 on a claim of false arrest.

It gives a man confidence!

Every Cadillac owner reading this advertisement will know what we're talking about.

For difficult as it is to describe, there is a measure of self-assurance that comes with driving a new Cadillac that is very real indeed.

It derives, we believe, from several basic considerations of Cadillac ownership.

First of all—to be sure—a man's Cadillac serves as a constant and personal reminder of what he has been able to make of his years.

And then too, he can't help but be aware of the respect and admiration his Cadillac engenders. Wherever he travels, it is recognized as the logical reward for achievement... and a reflection of his taste and judgement.

And finally, a journey at the wheel of a Cadillac constitutes the perfect respite from the workaday world.

Beautiful, gracious, substantial—spacious, silent, obedient—it delivers a man at his destination relaxed in body and refreshed in spirit even after a full day's drive.

Have you considered putting your best foot forward—and into a new 1961 Cadillac?

Well, this should surely be the year to make the move. There has never before been a Cadillac to rival this one—for beauty, for performance, for luxury, for craftsmanship, or for sheer and long-lasting soundness of investment.

Your authorized dealer has the facts and the figures—and the car—to prove it.

You ought to give him a hearing soon!

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MARCH 10, 1961

ACCENTUATING THE POSITIVE

For the third time in seven years the nation's businessmen, acting through the Advertising Council which they support, are attacking recession "through the minds of men, where all action starts."

Theodore Repplier, council president, thinks this psychological warfare probably did some good in 1954 and 1958, though he says frankly there's no way to prove it. Most Americans, especially the hard hit, probably would agree it's worth a good try.

In the new campaign, called "Confidence in a Growing America," the planners insist there's to be no "Pollyanna stuff," no blinking of the facts of recession. In the words of one, they simply want to "look at the whole stairway instead of the broken step."

What this means is that they intend to emphasize what they consider is legitimate optimism about the country's long-range future. The soberest economic projections largely agree, they say, that by 1975 we'll have a hike in gross national product from $500 billion to $800 billion, and a 22-million boost in jobs.

Some of the advertisements already prepared suggest the council is using what might be termed the "four B" approach. Again and again, alluding to the future, the campaigners say: "Brilliant—Bigger—Better—Brighter."

Heavy stress is laid on the value of organized research in fulfilling this promise.

The council's figures put U.S. business research today at $12 billion a year. By 1969 it's expected to reach $22 billion. Says Repplier: "It's the best answer to automation."

In its 1958 campaign, the council got donations of 25 million dollars' worth of advertising space. This time it figures on at least 10 million dollars' worth, and possibly much more.

For this time the program won't end once the recession danger is over. It will be continued at lower pace, with the idea that same constant psychological stimulus will do the economy good.

President Kennedy's commerce secretary, Luther Hodges, likes the whole idea, providing the rough facts are always faced. He should have plenty of company. The campaign, if it's realistic, can't hurt. And it might help a lot.

DISABILITY QUESTION

The related problems of presidential disability and succession have been brought into focus again by Rep. Howard W. Robinson of New York. He has proposed a Constitutional amendment giving Congress the power to decide when a president is physically or mentally unable to perform the duties of office, and when the vice president should assume those duties.

Some persons may regard it as a waste of time to consider this matter now. Anyone who thinks that had better recall the men who never thought of repairing the roof except when rain brought it to mind. The disability question was extensively discussed during the period when Mr. Eisenhower experienced two serious illnesses, but since that time little attention has been given to the matter.

Yet the question ought to be settled. The reason it needs to be settled is that the Constitution is ambiguous on the subject. It says that in case of the president's "inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president..." There is no hint as to who shall determine that "inability." And the phrase, "the same shall devolve on the vice president," is unclear; no one knows whether it means that the vice president should actually assume the office of president, or that he should merely function as chief executive until the president himself recovers.

Congressman Robinson summed up his concern in this fashion: "Lack of action on this serious subject makes the present situation the most potentially vulnerable in

TAX AVOIDANCE

Every once in a while, an accountant, quite offended, protests that I do not make a distinction between tax evasion and tax avoidance. I have no intention of doing so. If a fellow sets to work with accountant and lawyer to discover a hole in the law, a gimmick, a trick, a weakness of administration, he is evading taxes. The accountants would prefer that this be called tax avoidance. They do not advise their clients to evade taxes because such advice might put both client and the accountant in jail. Nevertheless, they do show them how to avoid paying the tax, which they regard as honorable. Their excuse is that Congress writes the law carelessly and that they have no moral obligation not to take full advantage of Congressional poor craftsmanship. One accountant writes me:

"... you create the impression that these professions are responsible for the laws that are obviously the work of our legislators."

It does not matter whether it is called tax evasion or tax avoidance, the fact is that there are large numbers of Americans who have discovered means not to pay taxes on a basis of equality with other tax-payers. One can personalize the word, law, and give it an unjustified moral weight. A government policy, whether pursued by executive fiat or in accordance with some law, may have served a temporary purpose or may have an error of political judgement or may have ceased to serve current conditions. Surely, this country, which has been suffering from excessive outflow of both gold and dollars, needs to adjust all its policies relating to these conditions. Therefore the outflow of dollars for the purpose of tax evasion or tax avoidance is intolerable and the holes in the law making it possible should be plugged up and cemented over.

Why should I pay a full tax if another citizen can ship his dough to London to open a salami factory and pay no taxes because he is cultivating better international relations?

Some of the better relations are now coming home to roost. Brazil is an excellent example of how we get caught in traps of our own devising. We have poured millions of dollars into Brazil to assist that country to build its fantastic new capital and to give it new industries. Many Brazilians and Italians in Brazil have become very rich as a result of American aid of various sorts. Also, we have encouraged the Brazilians to get a special benefit from the American people by the unconscionable rise in the price of coffee.

So Brazil now has a new President and it is his policy to tell the United States to go to the devil. Imitating Castro, President Quadros is giving the United States a bad time.

Why wait until the situation becomes too unpleasant? Why not take action right now — today? Why not put a tariff on Brazilian coffee which will make every Brazilian squirm? Let them sell their coffee to Soviet Russia and Red China where the people, quite sensibly, prefer tea.

To avoid taxes, Americans are putting their money all over the world. Granted that taxes are high, that they are brutally collected by narrow-minded, unimaginative collectors whose pay is so poor that they never understand why someone else earns more — granted all that, tax evasion and tax avoidance are intolerable. They are tricks to give one citizen an advantage over another.

An accountant quite correctly writes me: "... The harm consists not only in diverting funds to other countries for construction of large plants, with subsequent drain on our gold reserve, but the employment of foreign personnel which increases our unemployment problem in this country. Further, the articles produced abroad are returned to this country at much lower prices than comparable articles produced here."

One grows a bit weary of self-serving moralizing such as this. It must be understood that a reputable practitioner has a responsibility to his client to protect him from unnecessary taxes by advising him of his legal rights. This may be termed tax avoidance but it is understood and accepted as proper practice by the Internal Revenue Service and the Courts of the land."

It is also the responsibility of a reputable practitioner to tell his client that the scheme that has been cooked up to avoid or evade taxes is very dirty pool. (Copyright, 1961, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Bless Those Tax Dollars

Spent to Protect Health

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

April is the time of the year when poets sing of the beauty of spring. And citizens look up from income tax forms just long enough to commit multiple fractures of the Third Commandment.

As a pernickety cuss who is grateful to live in a democratic government and even more grateful to have an income on which to pay taxes, I thought this might be an ideal time to draw attention to some of the many hidden services rendered us by just one of our many federal agencies.

Here, for example is a partial list of court actions taken on our behalf in a single month by the Federal Drug Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare:

Obtained consent to condemn a $500 "therapeutic vibrator" that played a tape recording of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" while diagnosing and treating pathologic conditions of the head, lungs, heart, stomach, gall bladder, spleen, appendix and spine. To say nothing of cancer, cataracts and germ diseases.

Filed misbranding charges against a national distributor of food supplements for promoting the sale of an India-grown grass that purported "to keep men strong and virile until age 100 and women young and beautiful after they had passed 70 and even 80 years."

Obtained court orders to destroy a "sterile" eye preparation that was contaminated with live bacteria.

Seized and removed from the market $5 bottles of a sulfur preparation that promised relief for rheumatism, arthritis and skin diseases; herbal teas and tablets made from an Australian tree oil, offered as a cure for athlete's foot, sinus troubles, skin conditions, gingivitis, pyorrhea, typhoid fever, ulcers, bad breath and asthma; and capsules of a gelatin powder that promised to beautify hair, prevent nails from splitting and cracking, curb appetite, reduce weight and build blood.

Removed from the market and destroyed 310 tons of rodent and insect-contaminated cocoa products, flour, rice, dried peas, dried beans and popcorn; 52 tons of rodent-contaminated bulk wheat; 26 tons of canned tomatoes, catsup and puree, containing fly eggs and maggots; 23 tons of moldy, insect-infested nuts; 15 tons of spoiled frozen eggs; 262 tons of apple pomace that had an excessive amount of DDT; shipments of celery with unsafe amounts of pesticide; green coffee beans with wood splinters and filth, and fresh and processed cranberries with an excessive amount of weed killer.

But if you're in no mood to agree with me, I'd say you and I got our money's worth out of the tax dollar that was spent this way.

our entire system." That is correct. And now, when there is no emergency and the matter can be calmly discussed, is the time to remedy the situation.

War Paint

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Harlan Cleveland, new assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs, hopes that the reconvened session of the UN General Assembly will be short—and as sweet as possible.

This will be a testing ground for Russian attitudes toward President Kennedy's administration. There are no real assurances that Russia's Khrushchev won't attend. An no assurances that Kennedy will.

About two-thirds of the nearly 100 items on the original agenda last September were handled by the assembly before it recessed in December. But the 20-odd items remaining are perennial tough nuts to crack, plus a couple of new ones, like Cuba or Laos, that may flare up unexpectedly.

PERHAPS THE TWO MOST controversial matters are disarmament and agreement on a budget for UN operations in the Congo.

The question on disarmament is whether the Russian delegation under Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will permit the General Assembly to decide something about disarmament, or whether they will just want to debate it with all the old cliches.

There is no new American disarmament plan to counter the Russian resolution for "general and complete" disarmament. U. S. policy in the past has been to keep disarmament, negotiations out of the General Assembly, as too big and unwieldy an organization for constructive action.

If the Russians show they are now serious about wanting disarmament, the United States is expected to come forward with definite proposals as to form and date. One plan under consideration is to get discussions before a Big Four or similar small group, and not back before the 10-nation Geneva committee.

Western and Communist nations had equal representation in this latter group and it has proved ineffective so far.

THE CONGO QUESTION is more specific. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld has presented a $135 million budget for 1961 operations. This is double the regular U. N. budget, so there are serious objections. The 1960 cost of Congo operations was $66 million. The U. S. contributed almost half and the Communist countries contributed nothing.

U. N. rules that if a country is two years behind in its contributions it may lose its vote. But the Russians have paid up on the U. N.

The real question is whether the Russians will allow the Fifth Committee, on finance, to debate only the money matter.

The alternative is that the Russians will convert this into a general brawl by demanding that the U. N. get out of Africa. This would then be used for a renewed attack on Secretary Hammarskjöld and the whole U. N. organization.

In the first session of the assembly last fall, the Russians gave the impression they wanted to wreck the U. N. completely, if they could not dominate it. Since they seldom retreat on a position, the odds are this will be the line.

U. S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson will have to play it by ear.

The main point is to avoid another cat-calling session.

OTHER UNFINISHED BUSINESS includes Tibet, Hungary, Korea, apartheid in South Africa, and the treatment of Indian nationals in Southwest Africa.

Since the RB-47 fliers have been released, there has been some possibility that Russia will drop its U-2 complaint.

Admission of Red China has been delayed for consideration again next year. A resolution on colonialism was adopted last fall, so this won't come up again directly.

But the Kennedy administration has a new U. S. position to make clear on this question, to reverse the stand taken when Eisenhower administration delegates to the U. N. abstained from voting for the resolution against colonialism.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I think I can puzzle this out for myself, but you may want to do a little speculating on your own just as a historical-mental exercise.

Our people are almost morbidly retrospective about the records and repartee of old ball players, few of whom ever were seen by more than a handful of incumbent American voters. Thus we enjoy living in the past with the senile delight of so many centenarians.

But whenever any heretic discovers imperfection in the Roosevelt myth a pressure is applied from unseen forces that can be summed up as "There he goes again, about Roosevelt," or "about Mrs. Roosevelt."

I have read that Eddie Cicotte, late of the much too thoroughly damned Chicago Black Sox of 1919, picked up Ty Cobb for $750 in the year 19-whatever-it-was. But should I tell you in detail how F. D. Roosevelt dodged the draft in the First World War after a drunken progress in Scotland, ostensibly inspecting American naval bases and the North Sea mine barrage, the Cabal will say, "There he goes, picking on a dead man again!"

Ever since 1945 I have had a book by Jonathan Daniels, a son of Josephus, the secretary of navy in World War 1, entitled "The End of Innocence." Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy, and, as Jonathan sadly reveals, a double-crosser who ridiculed and opposed Daniels behind his back. Somehow, recently, an instinct nudged me to pay attention to Jonathan's story. And thus I learned that Jonathan, a strange fellow and a weird journalist, being editor of his father's Raleigh News and Observer, was trying to tell us historic truth about a monumental fraud but his idol, nevertheless, F. D. R.

Old Josephus did one spectacular good deed when he abolished the wet mess in the navy afloat and ashore. That took nerve and intelligence. Roosevelt, in the nature of his relation to Daniels, owed his personal respect somewhat beyond loyalty but went lushing around Washington and turned his official mission to Scotland into a silly and disgusting orgy. Daniels undoubtedly heard the details through naval intelligence and grapevine stuff from officers of the battleship division and the mine layers. Yet, Josephus ignored the flagrancy and encouraged this massive hulk, six feet three and almost inexcusably healthy, to funk out of personal service in the war so as to preserve his precious self for a career in politics afterward. Jonathan's own gushing infatuation is expressed in the sentence, "He was never more beautiful than he was that summer," of 1914, the year the war began. All this of course was years before he went down with polio.

Josephus of course could not foresee Pearl Harbor with 3,000 American men dead. But Daniels did know most of this horror ere he died and his son still believes Josephus went to his rest regarding Roosevelt as a great man.

Aid-to-Education Bill Seen Facing Discrimination Suit

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9 — There's a chance that, if a law is passed by Congress that provides funds only for public schools, its operation may be enjoined in the Federal courts on the ground that it discriminates against parochial and other private schools.

The political strategists, led by President Kennedy, are already suggesting that the issue of loans to private and parochial schools be disposed of in a separate bill. But this is only a way to kill the measure. For it is not likely to get a majority in Congress unless it is part of the entire aid-to-education bill, which makes grants for school construction as well as for scholarships.

Wide Resentment

To be excluded from this particular measure is what is arousing widespread resentment among Catholics as well as non-Catholics who do not want to see the constitutional clause on the "establishment of a religion" used to deprive any citizens of benefits that other citizens enjoy.

Indeed, the Supreme Court of the United States in several cases has upheld the principle that it is a violation of the constitution for the government to demand the surrender of any constitutional right as a condition for sharing in welfare benefits. It is being argued, therefore, now that to say to the millions of Catholic parents that they must send their children to public schools—if they wish to receive certain financial benefits provided by the Federal government—is, in effect, to ask them to forfeit their constitutional freedom of worship and thus to impose a penalty for choosing to educate their children in religious schools.

The Catholic View

This view has been expressed often by Father Virgil C. Blum, professor of political science at Marquette University, who was one of the earliest proponents of the tax-refund or certificate plan to aid parents who incur double expense for education. He wrote in October 1957, in "The Homiletic and Pastoral Review," as follows: "Government cannot demand that a child not attend a church-related school as a condition for sharing in the state's educational benefits. When government does this, it imposes an unconstitutional condition on the exercise of a constitutional right. That is to say, when a child exercises his constitutional right to attend a parochial school, government may not deny him a share in educational funds. To do so is to penalize him for his exercise of religion.

"In the distribution of its benefits, government must be objectively indifferent to the religious beliefs of its citizens."

Non-Discriminations

The government does not discriminate today, in granting tax exemptions, between church-owned property and any other kind of private property owned by a non-profit organization. This, of course, is a form of Federal aid that parochial schools now enjoy. Federal money also is used to pay chaplains of all faiths in the military services of the United States.

In the case known as Zorach vs. Clauson, the Supreme Court held that a New York State law, permitting school children to be excused from regular classes certain hours each week to attend religious classes in private buildings elsewhere, was constitutional. Justice Douglas, speaking for the court, wrote:

"The First Amendment, however, does not say that in every and all respects there shall be a separation of church and state..."

To Letter or Law

"Otherwise the state and religion would be aliens to each other—hostile, suspicious, and even unfriendly. Churches could not be required to pay even property taxes. Municipalities would not be permitted to render police or fire protection to religious groups. Policemen who help parishioners into their places of worship would violate the Constitution."

"Prayers in our legislative halls, the appeals to the Almighty in the messages of the chief executive; the proclamations making Thanksgiving Day a holiday; 'So help me God,' in our courtroom oaths—these and all other references to the Almighty that run through our laws, our public rituals, our ceremonies would be flouting the first amendment."

Not Seeking Gifts

The Catholic spokesmen on the school issue are not asking for grants or gifts from the Federal government, but simply low-interest loans to be used for school-building construction. The Federal government is engaged in lending money for mortgages and other purposes. It makes no distinction between citizens or corporations that borrow public funds. To contend that the Federal government cannot lend money to build a parochial school because this might imply that the government is engaged in the "establishment of religion," is to raise the question of whether the grant of tax exemptions or the bestowal of scholarships on Catholic students under the "G.I. Bill of Rights" is a violation of the First Amendment.

Certainly the 25,000,000 Catholics who live in the United States will not relish the idea that, because they happen to want their children to get religious education as a supplement to regular courses in elementary and secondary schools, they must lose the benefit of the taxes they themselves pay into the Federal treasury which now are to be used to aid in increasing educational facilities throughout the country. Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
THREE EX-PRESIDENTS

We now have three former Presidents living: Herbert Hoover; Harry Truman; Dwight D. Eisenhower. This is the first time this has happened since Grant became President in 1869. At that time four ex-Presidents were living: Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan and Johnson.

Not counting Presidents who died in office, the first eight ex-Presidents died at an average age of 70½ years. The last eight deceased Presidents died at an average age of 60½ years.

The farther back you go, the longer they lived, by ten years on the average. The strain of office today has apparently canceled the benefits of modern medical science. Against this, however, we have still living three former Presidents of an average age of 76. Long May they Wave!

It seems all wrong that the experience, judgment and patriotism of ex-Presidents cannot be continued in some official but non-executive position. Their service would be more useful now than former ex-Presidents due to our involvement in the struggle of Freedom vs. Communism.

These fateful decisions come under the jurisdiction of the President and State Department.

The Foreign Affairs Committees of Congress learn something about world problems, but only Presidents have been tried under fire.

Would you favor a Constitutional Amendment making ex-Presidents members of the United States Senate for life? When fateful hours come, their disinterested judgment could mean much to the correctness of a decision and the unity of the Nation.

One Big TV Show Taking Heed of St. Patrick's Day

NEW YORK (AP)—In all of network television only one big show takes heed of St. Patrick's Day.

Art Carney comes forth Sunday in "O'Halloran's Luck," NBC, 9-10 p. m. Eastern Standard Time in a story about a lovable Irish immigrant who becomes president of an American railroad. As to be expected, O'Halloran has the help of a displaced leprechaun.

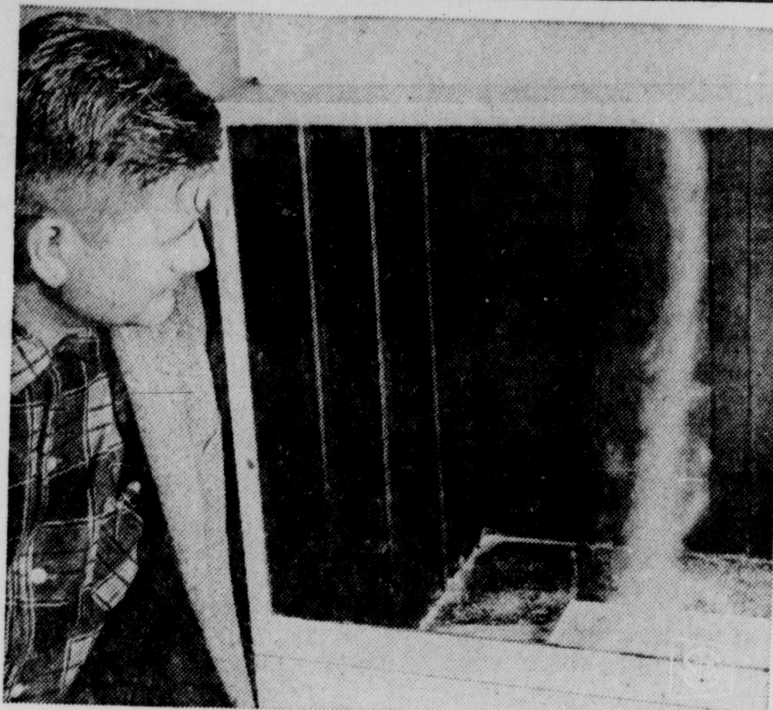

But on St. Pat's Day itself, next Friday, there's no prime evening time show that notes the holiday. The Bell Telephone Hour (NBC, 9-10) goes English with a musical potpourri related to William Shakespeare. Sir John Gielgud, Patrice Munsel, Alfred Drake and Joan Sutherland will be on hand.

Other shows worth viewing: Jackie Gleason, with guests Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson (CBS, 9:30-10 tonight); American Heritage, starring Hugh O'Brian in "The Secret Rebel" (NBC, 9:30-10, Saturday).

On Sunday, there's this lineup: "Issues and Answers," with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges as guest (ABC, 1:30-2); Twentieth Century, a story about Marines (CBS, 6:30-7); Candid Camera presents four popular highlights from previous shows (CBS, 10-10:30).

Red Skelton, absent because of illness and an operation, returns to work Tuesday with guest star Ed Wynn (CBS, 9:30-10). The same night, NBC presents "White Paper No. 4," a close look at the state legislator.

The special problems of dealing with and educating gifted children are tackled in "Minerva's Children" on the Armstrong Circle Theater Wednesday (CBS, 10-11).

HOMEMADE TORNADO—Prof. Fred C. Bates of Kansas University in Lawrence peers at a little tornado he made in a box. A vacuum is created with a 12-h.p. motor which sucks air out of the box. Vapor from a pan of dry ice moves upward in the funnel of air and the baby tornado is born. Bates is looking forward to bigger things—a model with a 100-h.p. engine which would stir things up with 200-m.p.h. winds, the minimum speed of a real tornado.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The other day, I was wondering what the rate of exchange was for an English pound for American dollars back in the late 1700's here in Ulster County. The following gives the clue and any of the readers who wish can figure it out. This is taken from the "First Annual Report of the Kingston Board of Education, of Kingston, Ulster County, N. Y." dated 1864. These booklets were loaned to me by Mrs. Van Dyke Basten, and I feel everything in them is of historical value to this locality especially.

This is taken from the coverage of the Kingston Academy. "Resolved that Timothy Tredwell Smith is hereby appointed to take charge of the academy as principal tutor, thereof for two years, to commence on the 14th day of May 1797, and that he be allowed for his services for the first year, to terminate the 14th day of May 1796, the sum of 170 pounds ($425) and for the year next thereafter the sum of 185 pounds ($462.50)."

On "Vacations" at Kingston Academy in 1797 the following: "There shall be two vacations in every year, of three weeks each, to commence on the first Monday of May and October. And on the Friday immediately preceding each vacation a general and public examination of the students in the presence of the trustees and such other persons as may choose to attend."

These public semi-annual Kingston Academy exams were no simple matter in the late 1790's "All the trustees making it a matter of pride and duty to attend . . . every house was thrown open for the reception and entertainment of strangers and visitors, who flocked to the village on these occasions."

It further reads "On the morning of the day fixed for the examination, the board of trustees of the Kingston Academy convened at a public house which was then situated at the corner of Fair Street and Maiden Lane. They were escorted in procession from that place by the students, preceded by music and amid the merry ringing of the village bells, proceeded to the Academy Hall, where the examination, rigid and thorough in its character took place."

The examination was followed by a public dinner of which both students and trustees, as well as distinguished strangers, partook. After dinner, in the spring examinations, the literary exercises of the day were closed by declamations in the Dutch Church, then the only church in the village. In the fall, the literary exercises of the examination day were closed by an exhibition in the court room, at which dialogues, disputations on questions proposed and speeches were delivered by the students. Originally the exercises of the evening were enlivened and interspersed by the performance of scenes from tragedies, farces and comedies. No doubt, this brought many shoppers to Kingston, in the 1790's.

Here is an item in this booklet on the establishment of a college here. "At a meeting of the trustees held on Mar. 17, 1804, the president of the committee appointed to wait on the Regents of the University to solicit their sanction in founding a college within the town of Kingston." The petition was denied, and many changes took place in the academy after that. Kingston could have been a university town some 150 years ago if the petition had gone through.

Girl, 13, Relates

Locked Up 7 Years Except for School; Couldn't Use Bath

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Except during school hours, she was locked in her room for seven years and never had a bath during that time, a 13-year-old related.

When a Juvenile Court official gave her a toothbrush and paste, the girl, Elaine Kensing, said she didn't know what they were for.

Parents Jailed

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Kensing, are in jail in lieu of $2,500 bail each, charged with child neglect and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Elaine, her sister Mary, 4, and brothers Frank, 15, and Robert, 8, were taken to Santa Cruz County Juvenile Hall.

"Never have I seen a more abominable, degrading and disgusting way of life for any person to be subjected to," Officer Sue Curtis said.

Kensing told officers Elaine was confined for using vile words and sassing her mother. Mrs. Kensing refused to talk to police or reporters.

Coffee Can Her Toilet

The girl's 10x12-foot room was described by officers as "utter filth." A door leading to a bathroom was nailed shut. The only toilet facility available to Elaine was a coffee can, Officer Curtis said.

The case came to attention of authorities when her father, who runs a shop dealing in coins and second-hand goods, reported her as a runaway.

When she was found at the home of a girl friend, Kensing asked that she be taken to Juvenile Hall as punishment.

Elaine burst into tears and told the story.

Reinhardt Now Envoy to Italy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today chose career diplomat G. Frederick Reinhardt, now envoy to the United Arab Republic, to be ambassador to Italy.

Reinhardt, 49, had been in the Foreign Service 25 years. Last month the White House announced that Reinhardt would stay on as ambassador to the United Arab Republic and as ambassador to Yemen.

Asked today why Kennedy had changed his mind and decided to transfer Reinhardt to Italy, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said that his only information was that the switch was made after study of the situation. Reinhardt speaks fluent Italian. Reinhardt was born in Berkeley, Calif. He went to school in Switzerland, attended the University of California and Cornell University before going to Italy to study in Florence.

Depressed Bill Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration drive for Senate approval of the $394 million depressed areas bill this week appeared stalled today by delaying tactics of foes and press of other Senate business.

The bill came up for Senate debate Thursday but was sidetracked when the House passed the administration's emergency feed grain bill. The Senate was scheduled to take up its version of the farm measure today.

Even if the Senate completes action on the feed grain bill, several senators have amendments ready for the depressed areas measure and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois says he will oppose any roll call votes on it before next week.

Laos Rebels Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels launched a three-pronged attack today against government positions at battered Sala Phou Koun junction which controls Laos' vital north-south highway.

Government commander Gen. Boun Leuth Sanichan reportedly moved his headquarters south in the face of a heavy attack by at least nine rebel battalions.

There was no indication what effect the attack would have on the government's long-promised drive northward. Government officers in the past have said control of Sala Phou Koun is a prerequisite for such an offensive.

Pushes for Windup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee pushes today for a windup of its public hearings on an emergency bill designed to speed more federal aid to the unemployed.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., called for more information about the House-passed bill before discussing how many amendments might be needed to meet protests that it falls short of its intended goals.

With the hearings already two days behind schedule, the committee called Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg for a third day of questioning on many scores.

NEW YORK (AP)—Renewed threat of a proxy war boomed Allegheny in a scrambled stock market early this afternoon. Turnover was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .40 at 238.50 with industrials up .20, rails up .50 and utilities up .30.

The collapse of peace efforts between Allegheny management and the Murchison brothers brought buying to Allegheny which opened late on a huge block of 65,000 shares, up 1½ to 1¼. Later it was quoted at a rise of about a point.

The rest of the market was featured by hedge-podge of spasmodic gains and losses of specially situated stocks. Speculative buying mingled with sharp profit taking.

Most of the key stocks, meanwhile, moved sedately, showing small gains or losses.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .88 at 664.21. Corporate bonds declined in slower trading. U.S. governments were unchanged to slightly higher in quiet dealings.

Industrial Engineers Slate Meeting March 15

Mid-Hudson Chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers Inc., will hold its regular dinner meeting Wednesday, March 15 at The Kitchen, Hyde Park at 6:30 p. m. The business meeting and program will start at 7:30 p. m.

A group discussion will be held, moderated by William McCullen, program manager of management development at International Business Machines Corp., Kingston. Following the discussion a film, "Toshiba in Action," will be shown.

The nominating committee will present a slate of chapter officers. Additional nominations will be accepted from the floor. Election of officers will be held at the April meeting. Reservations may be made by calling Thomas Gorman at IBM, Kingston. Brendan Mongan, IBM, Poughkeepsie.

Seattle Jury Is To Get Dutchess Man's Case 21st

SEATTLE (AP)—The case of the jobless flier accused in the $45,889.54 "tunnel burglary" of a Seattle bank will be presented to a federal grand jury here March 21, attorneys said today.

Wells Benner Van Steenberg Jr., 25, appeared in federal court Thursday, pleaded he was without funds and Judge William J. Lindberg appointed an attorney to defend him.

Later, however, Van Steenberg's father in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., engaged Seattle attorney, Irving C. Paul Jr., to defend his son. Paul asked that the case be presented to the next grand jury March 21.

Van Steenberg was arrested by the FBI March 3 and charged with possession of funds stolen in the burglary Feb. 19 of the Seattle branch of the People's National Bank.

That burglary was done by someone who dug an 18-foot tunnel under the bank vault then drilled into the vault.

The FBI reported last Sunday more than $39,000 of the money was recovered, some in a locker at nearby Fort Lawton registered to Van Steenberg.

He is held on $50,000 bail.

days a week." As of now, he noted, the officers and chief "are paid only for 40 hours, and there is no provision for overtime." He hoped, he said, that "the Common Council will take cognizance of this situation and initiate immediate steps to remedy it."

Arrested Last June

A Feb. 24 report noted that Christoforo, Benjamin Thomas Hamilton, 27, of 17 Lisa Lane, and Peter Gerald Suski, 27, of 322 Albany Avenue, who were arrested last July in Sullivan County, were found guilty of unlawful entry and possession of burglary tools.

The three were arrested July 26, 1960, by Corp. T. J. Emden, of the Ferndale state police after a car was found parked on a side street near the post office at Kiamashea Lake, with pry bars and screw drivers in it.

Will Make Check

Vogt said nothing has been determined, to date, as to possible involvement, of the trio picked up this morning, in other area burglaries, but police effort will be intensified to learn as much as possible of their past records and activities.

Christoforo has a long local police record, most of which involve vehicles and traffic violations, but he also has a record of past theft including a burglary count in 1957. Burke and Quick are of similar record in the same year.

ator and golf course architect, who developed the new Wiltwyck Golf Club; Howard B. Kreitsek of Roslyn, L. I., and New York City, who is a prominent Long Island real estate operator, and Morris Back, New York City attorney who resides at Glen Cove, L. I.

The law firm of Rosenblum and Lamb represented Winston in the foreclosure proceedings. The site selection would depend on a sizable donation of land and a temporary building in order to make the county eligible for 50 per cent state aid.

Advises New Building

Dr. Lawrence L. Jarvie, executive dean for Institutes and Community Colleges, New York State University, addressed the Board of Supervisors at a July meeting. He said temporary buildings were not usually suitable for permanent use. It is usually less expensive to "start from the ground up" with a new building and adding other buildings as need arises. A new building suitable for a college costs about $17 to $18 a square foot for the basic building. The state pays 50 per cent of the cost. Dr. Jarvie said a potential of about 500 students within five years in Ulster County seemed about right.

In the event Ulster County is given a site, it would be appraised as to value and the county given a "credit" for the appraised amount. Since the state will pay half the cost of the site and building, the county would benefit financially to the amount of half the appraised value of any site donated to the county, thus reducing the ultimate cost by such an amount.

Can't Tolerate Condition

"We just cannot tolerate the hardship that millions of Americans will continue to endure, the waste of production that the nation so badly needs, and the loss of confidence at home and abroad that this prospect would cause."

The delegates adopted unanimously a resolution recommending a 10-point program to "reverse the tide of recession and return the country and the state to full employment."

The program included proposals for a $1.25 hourly minimum wage, strengthened collective bargaining, expanded public-housing construction, an immediate "big-scale" public works program, increased social security payments and higher personal exemptions in state and federal income taxes.

net of 22 seats in last year's election.

Rains said the GOP gains "inevitably make it a nip and tuck battle on the House floor."

Senate hearings are expected to start late this month, making a vote possible before the end of April. The House then might act by late May.

Other Pressures Likely

Some congressional sources said they expect strong pressure from the building industry for changes in the bill that would help sell houses perhaps up to the $25,000 class. Those might include lower down payment requirements.

Under the Kennedy proposals, the mortgage financing liberalization would be slanted particularly at houses costing $13,500 or less.

The President also proposed a go-ahead for construction of 100,000 public housing units. Republicans usually oppose large public housing programs.

Site Seemed Ideal

Dr. Jarvie said a 25-mile radius should be considered in locating the college and he suggested the "Kingston or north-side area" of the county as the most advantageous site location.

Of the several sites offered some of them had physical disadvantages such as inadequate access highways, drainage, water and sewage facilities, making them economically unsound to accept as community college sites.

It was pointed out at the time of the survey that the Winston property was less than 2,000 feet from the state highway and adjacent to a good town road. The land also met the water, drainage and sewage requirements.

Stocks Now Beat Bonds For Retirement Income

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I am going to retire in two years. I now have ten thousand dollars and think I should invest $5,000 of this in either bonds or stocks to get a higher return when I'm retired. What do you suggest?"—A. R.

A) I assume from your letter that $10,000 represents the sum total of your capital and that you won't be able to add much to that between now and retirement. Since you mention an investment of only $5,000, I am also assuming that you will keep the balance in some form of savings account. I would certainly advise you to do so.

Let me point out to you the basic difference between stocks and bonds. Right now, better grade stocks yield much less than bonds but have a good prospect of increasing in value over the years ahead through earnings and dividend growth. All stocks have one factor in common; they fluctuate, sometimes severely. If you buy shares you must realize that the price will be subject to variation; and, if you are a worrier, you should take this factor into consideration. High grade bonds are more secure than stocks because they are a fixed charge on income. There is no chance of growth in bonds, and they also fluctuate, but within narrower limits.

Since you need moderate growth, as well as income, to give you a measure of protection against inflation, I suggest you put your $5,000 into 2 conservative stocks: Bank of America and Duquesne Light, which would give you a combined yield of about 4 per cent.

Q) "I am 72 and own Treasury 2½'s due 1967/72. I can use more than 2½ per cent return; should I sell?"—A. C.

A) There are three series of these bonds, all selling around 88½. The yield figured to maturity at current levels amounts to about 3.70 per cent. I don't believe you can do much better than this with safety, and I advise you to hold.

half story structure with such rapidity that when firemen reached the scene flames were pouring out the opposite side of the house.

He said a kerosene or gas heater in the kitchen apparently exploded, igniting fumes and flashing through the interior of the home. There was a "lot of nice furniture" in the home which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Badenbach. Badenbach was not at home when the fire broke out shortly before 2 p. m.

Mrs. Badenbach reportedly was driven from the house in such haste that she was unable to use the telephone to notify the fire company. A passing motorist reportedly saw her standing in the road waving her arms.

Chief Fox described it as a "very stubborn fire." Water was shuttled in by truck. A small stream near the home was also used as a source.

Fox said the home was quite old, with the old-style peg-tile construction, lateral beams and inch-and-a-half sheathing board on the sides which is very hard to break through. It had the old-style slanting ceilings.

Several members of the board of education of the Saugerties Central Schools attended a meeting of the Ulster County School Boards Association Tuesday evening of this week in the Ellenville High School.

Ben Miller, president of the Ellenville School Board, presided. Speakers were Robert Greenman, director of the day division of the Orange County Community College, and John Lowther, president of the Saugerties Board of Education, who reported on recent legislation affecting schools.

The meeting was of special interest to local board members because it emphasized the question of a possible community college for Ulster County. Mr. Greenman of the Orange County Community College said, in part,

"The best way for a community college to get started is through the gift of a building and land by some county citizen. That is the way the Orange County Community College came into being."

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties was present and emphasized the desirability of locating such a college in Saugerties if the county decides to promote such an institution.

Mr. Greenman went on to say that a community college provides an excellent opportunity for children of parents who have limited means to get two years of college experience and training on an inexpensive basis.

Community colleges are accredited by the State Education Department and by the University of the State of New York. The county normally pays approximately one-third of the cost of operation. Other expenses are borne by the State of New York. Total fees for a student in the Orange County Community College total $300 per year. Most of the graduates of the Orange County institution go on to a four-year college and receive a degree. Supervisor Williams of Saugerties said that Ulster County is currently paying per year approximately $25,000 on behalf of Ulster County students who attend community colleges in other counties.

The following board members attended: John Lowther, Harry Hoffman Jr., Agnes Schroeder, Mary Lasher and Robert Herb. Also Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools, Peter Williams, and Patrick Rodden, business manager.

PTA Schedules
Talk on School
Lunch Program

Continuing its theme for the year of "Know Your Schools," the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association will present a program 8 p. m., March 16 in the cafeteria of Saugerties High School on The School Lunch Program—Its Values and Its Functions. Mrs. June Myer, cafeteria supervisor, will act as chairman of the program.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Helen Diehl, associate in the State Education Department, who will discuss Values and Functions of School Lunch. The local lunch program will be discussed by Mrs. Myer and by Patrick Rodden, business manager. Mrs. Myer will describe the lunch system used in the Saugerties Central Schools; Mr. Rodden will explain the method of financing the program. Each of the four schools in the system operating a cafeteria will have an exhibit concerning school lunches. Cafeteria workers from the local schools will be special guests.

Two other features of the program will be the presentation of a life membership to some P-T-A member, and community singing led by Miss Ellen Barrett.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting with members serving themselves in the same manner as the students who participate in the school lunch program.

Members will note that the meeting is being held Thursday, March 16, instead of on Wednesday, March 15 as originally scheduled.

Commerce Dept. Asked to Fight Removal of Center

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department is the latest federal agency asked by a group of New Yorkers to block a proposed shutdown of an Air Force procurement center at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.

At stake are the jobs of 7,500 civilians in labor-surplus area.

Rep. Alexander Pirnie, R-N.Y., and three Rome officials met Thursday with Commerce Secretary Luther M. Hodges and Undersecretary Hickman Price Jr. Later, an aide to Pirnie said that, during the meeting, Price dictated a letter to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara opposing any shutdown except for "overriding military necessity."

Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert has said no final decision has been reached to close the Rome Air Materiel Area, although the move is under study.

There are reports the procurement facilities will be transferred to bases at Dayton, Ohio, Middletown, Pa., and Bedford, Mass.

Gov. Rockefeller, the New York Legislature and New York's congressional delegation all have urged President Kennedy to halt the proposed transfer.

In addition to Pirnie, those who met with Hodges and Price were Mayor Charles T. Lanigan of Democratic city chairman; and Rome; James C. O'Shea, a member of the mayor's committee and Fritz S. Uptide, chairman of the mayor's committee.

Grange for Vote
On Measure About
School Decision

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A bill providing for court review of decisions made by the state education commissioner should be reported out of committee for a vote in the Legislature, the New York State Grange says.

The Grange's executive committee, at a meeting Thursday, also urged a vote on legislation that would raise from 18 to 21 the minimum age for purchasing alcoholic beverages in the state.

The court-review bill is in the Senate Finance Committee. The liquor-age measure is awaiting action of the Senate Excise Committee.

The Grange called for repeal of the Speno school transportation law and announced opposition to a recent state order to ban the sale of raw milk, effective April 1.

The farm group said the Speno law, scheduled to become effective next fall, would mandate heavy increases in expenditures for school districts.

The law extends the mandatory limits for school-bus operation. A bill pending in the Legislature and considered assured of passage would eliminate many of the provisions of the law that drew the most criticism.

The State Public Health Council issued the order imposing the ban on the statewide sale of raw milk. The Grange said a public hearing should be held before such an order became effective.

Health Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe said Thursday he would ask the council, of which he is a member, to postpone for one year the effective date of the order.

Union Lenten Series Sunday At St. James

REV. EDWIN C. COON

The fourth in the series of union Lenten services will be conducted at the St. James Methodist Church Sunday, 7:30 p. m. The Sunday evening services during Lent are sponsored by the Kingston Area Council of Churches. The services this Sunday will be conducted by the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, host pastor. He will be assisted by the Rev. Harold J. Stephanz, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, will be the guest speaker. He has chosen for his sermon the topic, Exposed. The Rev. Mr. Coon came to the Fair Street Church Oct. 1, 1960. The St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl Streets, channel choir, under the direction of Raymond C. Corey, minister of music, will sing the anthem, "My Eternal King" by Marshall. Mr. Corey will also conduct the singing of "Prayer" by Humperdinck sung by a trio consisting of William Bate, Mrs. Robert Wemple and Mrs. Edgar Stevens.

The annual Protestant men's communion breakfast will be held Sunday, March 19, at 7 a. m. at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Dr. Reamer Kiline, president of Bard College will be guest speaker.

Rocky Sets Week

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller has designated April 16-22 as "Youth Temperance Education Week" in New York State.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Eight of the 52 pupils in a seventh-grade history class at Bethlehem Central Junior High School would like to grow up to become governor of New York.

But, perhaps because they live so close to the seat of the state government, some find other jobs more attractive. The pupils were given as a homework question: "If you were given an opportunity to train for a state government position, which one would you choose?"

A 13-year-old girl replied: "I would like to be a Republican member of the State Legislature. As a side job, I think I'd like to be a pediatrician or surgeon."

A 12-year-old boy said he would choose lieutenant governor because "I could be sure of a steady income."

The job of state comptroller appealed to a 12-year-old girl. "Look at all those retirement billions he has to safeguard. Imagine all that power," she said.

A 12-year-old boy, decided he would like to be governor for this reason: "It's the stepping stone to the presidency."

But another boy, a year older, said he would settle for warden of Sing Sing Prison. "I think it is the most exciting branch of state service. Other government jobs and politics generally bore me to death."

Rail Club Lists October Exhibit

The annual public exhibition of the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. will be held from October 22 through October 29, 1961. The show will be open the two Sundays from 2:30 to 9 p. m. and week nights from 7 to 9 p. m.

This announcement was made today by Walter W. Phillips, president of the 23 year old local model engineers club, who pointed out that work is now underway to present many new features to show visitors at the club's quarter-inch scale model railroad layout at 541 Broadway near to the West Shore freight depot, off Susan Street.

It was also announced that Lewis DeGraff of Hinsdale Street has been elected to the Board of Directors of the club to replace L. Graham Bell who has moved from the city.

In conjunction with the Cub Scout theme of the month, Railroad, members of the club held open house Thursday night at which time well over a hundred Cub Scouts were guests.

The visitors were shown sections of the club's railroad layout in action and were given a question and answer period to help them in their preparations for the monthly theme.

Trusty Is Back In Jail After Stabbing Woman

ROME, N.Y. (AP)—A 20-year-old trusty was back in the Oneida County Jail today after, jail officials said, he stabbed a woman and fled.

Frederick F. Hotaling, serving a one-year term for assault, was captured Thursday 30 minutes after he ran away from a snow-shoveling detail.

As a trusty, Hotaling was allowed to shovel snow from sidewalks outside the jail and those of nearby houses.

Jail officials said Hotaling went to the home of Miss Anna Mae Smith, 74, and asked to be paid for his work. She gave him $12.50. Then, Miss Smith told the officials, he pushed her against a kitchen stove and stabbed her in the neck with a paring knife. She was reported in fair condition at Rome Hospital.

Miss Smith lived across the street from the jail. Hotaling had been sent to jail for trying to choke a young woman.

$4.5 Million Fund Is Asked for School Plan

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Trustees of the State University want the Legislature to set aside $4.5 million for operation of the University of Buffalo if the school becomes a unit of the university.

The trustees said in a resolution Thursday the money would be used between the signing of any merger agreement and Buffalo's actual incorporation into the State University. After the incorporation, operating funds would come from the State University's regular budget.

Representatives of the State University and Buffalo University are working on the merger negotiations.

The State University, without a central campus, is made up of 46 schools.

Special Class Rate Includes Mohawk Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mohawk Airlines is one of nine local-service airlines that will operate under a new mail subsidy formula based on a special class rate.

In an announcement Thursday the Civil Aeronautics Board described the new class rate as containing incentives for efficient operation and controls designed to ease eventually the subsidy burden.

The new rate, although set up on the basis of each airline's individual need, is stated in terms of a class of airlines, with the scale determined by volume of operations for each station.

Agree on Conferences

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Neutralist former Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the strongman of the Western-backed Laotian government, agreed today on a program of conferences and eventual national elections that they hope will end the civil war in their strategic little nation.

Prince Souvanna undertook to sell the program to the pro-Communist rebels and Pathet Lao guerrillas, who control much of the Lao's countryside and up to now have recognized him as the legal head of government.

Hurley School Takes Part in Science Fair

One hundred per cent participation is anticipated by the students of grades four, five and six of the Hurley School for the third annual Science Fair, March 13-17 of the Kingston (Consolidated) Schools. The winners will compete with other Mid-Hudson area winners at New Paltz May 12.

Pupils in Ernest Myer's sixth grade, Frank Ebelheiser's fifth grade and Mrs. F. Mae Nash's fifth grade have helped to stimulate interest throughout the entire school by making timely and informative posters depicting various science areas. The posters are on display in the corridors and classrooms.

Myer's sixth grade students, with intensive research, study and guidance* are concentrating on rocks, erosion, the atmosphere, common chemical changes and electrical motors.

One fifth grade, under the supervision of Ebelheiser, elected to work on the survival of living things, lifting and moving objects, radio and keeping healthy. Mrs. Nash's group has chosen to work on terrariums, aquariums, a simple moving picture projector, a Morse Code set, and an electrical bowling alley.

Mrs. Rose Battenfeld is guiding her fourth grade in preparing exhibits on a motor driven merry-go-round, a map of Florida using shells, drawings of jets, an incubator, and a dog house.

The other fourth grade under the leadership of Mrs. Marion Kershaw is concentrating on the circulation of the blood, Leyden-Jar using electricity, models of del-tas, a camera, crystal radio, and a telegraph set. Although grades one two and three are not eligible to compete at the fair for award they are energetically preparing exhibits for their classrooms.

Temperature and weather charts, working with seeds, rocks, minerals, and erosion comprise their chosen areas.

Materials used in the experiments and exhibits are scraps obtained at practically no cost to the students. They include batteries, scraps of wire, odd pieces of wood, tape, cartons, bulbs and other usable materials. The spirit of "sharing" materials is very evident.

The blue ribbon winners who were eligible to display exhibits at the college last year from Hurley were Joseph Duggan, grade six, a city drainage system; David Gordon, grade five, an electrical mercury switch; and Maureen Bieber, grade four, the growth and development of a peanut plant. The peanut plant won second place at New Paltz in the area of living things. The mercury switch won third place in the electrical area.

The judges this year at the local level represent men from local industries who voluntarily donate their time, as well as science teachers who will visit the various schools to select the winners.

Although this is a science fair revealing interest in the eleven basic areas, the children will use their knowledge and skill correlating other subjects such as reading, writing, English, use of reference materials, preparation and planning of oral reports, and art which all add to a well rounded program in our school system.

The science fair representative for the Hurley School is Mrs. F. Mae Nash.

Hints Veto Action

Rockefeller Still Opposes Mahoney's Welfare Concepts

NEW ENVOY—James M. Gavin, 53, retired Army general, is the United States ambassador to France. He commanded the 82nd Airborne Division during World War II.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller has reaffirmed his opposition to Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney's proposals to impose limited residence requirements on welfare recipients.

Asked on the WCBS-TV program "Face New York" Thursday night if any of the Buffalo Republican senator's four compromise restrictions would be acceptable to him, the governor replied: "They wouldn't be."

Rockefeller had said in Albany Wednesday that he "didn't think" he would sign the Mahoney measures if they passed the Legislature.

Would Tighten Rules

The governor said Thursday night he is opposed to the residence concept because it is traditional in New York State "to help those in need."

He said an estimated $6 million yearly might be saved by requiring welfare recipients to have one year's residence in the state. But he added: "A lot of those entitled to help would not get it, and a lot who were not entitled would still be getting it anyway."

But the way to cure this is "tightening administrative regulations," he said. A joint committee of the Legislature will shortly publish recommendations on that subject, he pointed out, adding: "I hope we can find a formula to satisfy everybody on this question."

Rockefeller vetoed last year a bill requiring one year of residence for relief recipients.

Praises Wagner

The Republican governor praised Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner for continuing to advocate reform of the city charter in the face of opposition within the Democratic Party.

The governor noted that he had just signed the bill authorizing the mayor to appoint his own charter revision committee to lay a new charter before the voters at next November's election.

The governor declined to comment on President Kennedy's proposals for federal aid to public schools, or on the question of whether such aid should go also to parochial schools.

On the question of commuter railroads, the governor asked unions to exercise restraint regarding wage demands.

The governor repeated that he is in favor of repealing the state's "full crew" law which, he said, is preserving 600 railroad jobs which the Public Service Commission has deemed not essential for safety.

To Acquire Broome Plant

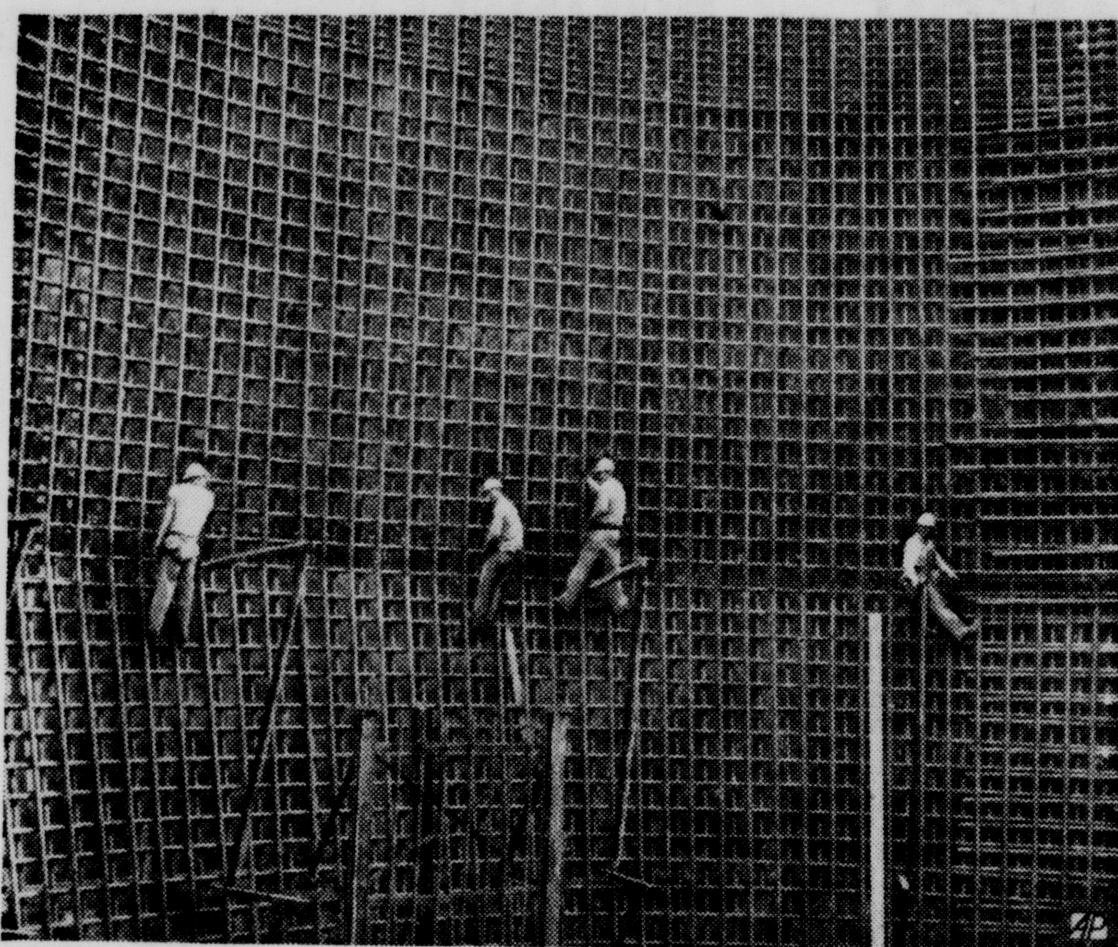

NEW YORK (AP)—Robinson Technical Products soon will acquire the Kupfrian Manufacturing Corp., of Binghamton, N.Y., makers of electronic components and control systems.

The acquisition is the third for Robinson, which has had headquarters in Teterboro, N. J., since 1959.

The planned consolidation—full details will be announced later—was disclosed by President C. S. Robinson, head of the Jersey firm, and Wilbur Kupfrian, president of the electronics components firm, after approval of the merger plans by their respective boards of directors.

MISSILE HAULER—This tractor-trailer unit, which meets state highway requirements, will haul Air Force Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles to and from underground launch sites. Rear of the trailer opens to deposit missile nose-up at site.

SETTING UP STRENGTH—Steelworkers set reinforcing bars in walls of underground Atlas missile emplacement before concrete pouring. This "silo," near Salina, Kan., is one of many Atlas launch facilities under construction across the United States.

Cook Released, Last of Figures In Bid Rigging

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—John M. Cook, 54, a vice president of Cutler-Hammer Inc. of Milwaukee was released from prison today after serving 25 days of a 30-day term for price fixing and bid rigging. He was the last of seven top executives freed early because of exemplary behavior.

Thus, with nearly $2 million in fines already paid by electrical firms in what the government described as one of the biggest anti-trust cases in history, the penalties imposed by the court have been paid.

Firms Still Face Suits

But the firms still face possible law suits from individuals and state and city governments.

Cook left Montgomery County prison shortly after midnight, anxious to return to work as a marketing executive. His lawyer, Joseph Swain, was waiting, along with Warden Andrew J. White and Mrs. White when Cook stepped from the cellblock into a small foyer.

Swain said that his client was returning to his job at Cutler-Hammer with the same salary and authority as before. That was not true of some of the others who were disciplined for their parts in the conspiracy to rig bids, fix prices and allocate business.

In addition to the jail sentences, Chief Judge J. Cullen Ganey fined 29 companies and 44 executives a total of $1,924,500.

Five of the jailed executives spent their terms at the county prison, helping to revise the filing system.

"I believe they shortened the job by four months," White said.

No Bars, No Walls

The two others did their time at a prison farm in nearby Eagleville. It has neither bars nor walls. They were willing to do repair and maintenance work, White explained, so they were sent to the farm where they lived dormitory style in a large house with other trusted prisoners.

Two of the executives were released Tuesday and four Thursday, also in the middle of the night on the last day of their sentences. Legally, they served that day so long as they remained in prison past midnight.

Cook was the last to begin his term. He won a delay to attend his daughter's engagement party. The wedding date hasn't been set yet, he disclosed as he left prison.

National 4-H Club Week was observed at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday with a short talk by Edmund R. Bower, county 4-H Club Agent, and a film concerning the work of the organization as presented by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

In the introduction to the film, County Agent Bower traced briefly the changes in 4-H Club procedures over a period of years "until today there are over 50 projects available now to members."

The film presented by Central Hudson, showed the life of a city boy whose parents moved to the country where the entire family pattern of living changed due to the entrance of the boy and his sister into the program of the 4-H Club.

NLRB Withholds Bargaining Vote, 4 Are Challenged

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The outcome of a bargaining election at the Twin Coach Co. plant in Waverly is being withheld by the National Labor Relations Board until a ruling is made on four challenged ballots.

Forty-three inspectors, and production and maintenance workers voted Feb. 10 against representation by the United Auto Workers, the NLRB said Thursday. Forty others of 87 eligible workers voted for the union.

Of the four challenged votes, three were challenged by the union on eligibility and one by the NLRB because the worker was not registered.

The election would be decided by a majority of votes cast, the NLRB said. The board said it had not determined if another election would be necessary.

Others Waiting in Wings to Show Talents

Early Maneuvers Make Goldberg Cabinet Star

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's that time in the life of a new administration when looking at the President's Cabinet is like examining a chorus line to guess who'll star.

By this time in President Eisenhower's first administration three of his Cabinet already were tagged as standouts: Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Forceful Men Around

It's not that easy with President Kennedy's Cabinet. Yet, he has some extremely forceful men around him. But so far Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg has had far more attention than the others.

Dulles, Humphrey and Wilson all lived up to early expectations, but in different ways, and were on stage till the end of their service. Dulles and Humphrey became dominant and controversial. Wilson, who occasionally popped off to his own disadvantage, was as controversial as either of the other two but never seemed to acquire their authoritative voice.

By comparison the rest of that first Eisenhower team—with the exception of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson—remained shadowy figures.

Problems Make Headlines

Goldberg, if only because of the events which immediately began to overtake him, so far has given the impression of more speed than anyone else in the Kennedy Cabinet. His problems, of course, were of the kind to make headlines.

First, he had to settle a tugboat strike which had New York in knots; then he had to settle an airline strike which had the nation in knots. He made a trip through the depressed areas, appeared repeatedly before Congress, and even flew to Miami to talk turkey to the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Some of the others in the Cabinet will move up front and center as their problems multiply. So far they've stayed pretty much out of sight, as if hibernating until spring.

Rusk Lacks Glamor

It's doubtful Secretary of State Dean Rusk will ever get the publicity of Dulles. He's not the type. Dulles was undisputed boss of foreign policy, went in for dramatics, was leaned on heavily by Eisenhower.

Rusk lacks Dulles' sense of drama, doesn't push himself or his ideas into the spotlight, seems determined to let Kennedy make the big statements in the foreign field.

Except for a few statements Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman has been in the background. And—this is a guess—unless his farm programs strike sparks he isn't likely to be a fiery figure.

J. Edward Day, by the very nature of his job as postmaster general, isn't front page material. And there's nothing theatrical about Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, an earnest, quiet man.

Rest Unpredictable

The rest of the Cabinet is unpredictable. The President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, attorney general, isn't apt to cause problems for the President by pushing forward.

He is, however, a very active young man. And his actions, rather than his words, may assume an extremely important role in any appraisal of the Kennedy administration.

Two men to Watch

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall, aggressive and outspoken, almost certainly won't stay quiet to avoid conflict. It's too soon to guess about Luther H. Hodges, secretary of commerce.

Traditionally, though, that job doesn't produce fireworks. Two men to watch are Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon. Both have played pretty mum while getting their house in order.

But both are strong men, with brains.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Rarely have so many offered so much advice on what to expect of the coming month. Can the ordinary citizen be blamed if he wonders if any of the experts really know?

April prospects are being painted in glowing colors. They are being depicted as a recession. They are being seen by others as likely to holdout false hopes for the unwary.

Bulls Most Optimistic

Wall Street bulls are the most optimistic. It's their nature. They see a real turnaround in business coming, with signs indisputable by April. And they expect to profit by it. So they are buying stocks.

When an unmistakable turn does occur, can it be assumed that all hands will then refer to the immediate past as a recession? Or will those whose particular industry or locality was relatively untouched go on insisting that nothing has really been wrong?

More gloomy soothsayers insist that if the usual spring upturn in trade and industry arrives on schedule it won't be big enough to make a dent in such troubles as unemployment.

And others go further. They hold that even if the immediate sore spots are alleviated, the long-term problem of getting the economy to move faster than it was before it slowed down a year ago will still be with us.

It seems unlikely that April, no matter how it turns out, will be able to settle this debate.

Facts Not Much Help

The facts right now aren't too much help.

If you go by the official figures alone, important sectors of the economy are far from being in the best of health. Some plants are closed. Others are running on reduced schedules. The lines at the unemployment benefit payment windows are lengthening. Many manufacturers report new orders more of a hope than an actuality.

But if you look closer at some of the official figures, you can find reasons for assurance. In most cases this is because the business curves that are on the downside aren't falling as fast as they once did. And all past cycles have ended when the downturn curves went too far to fit the facts of consumption and had to turn up again — often fairly steeply.

All Have Answers

The real pessimists are those who suspect that the present situation isn't like the postwar recessions of 1949 and 1954 and 1958. They think that late 1959 saw the end of the postwar era. They hold that this time businessmen are playing for keeps, and not just dealing with a postwar cyclical adjustment.

Each set—the pessimists, the optimists, the long-term prognosticators—is sure it is right and has the real answer. The ordinary citizen can choose which one he believes. It's just possible, you know, that it will be autumn before you really can be sure.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON SUGGESTS BEST WAY TO DECREASE UNEMPLOYMENT

BABSON PARK, Mass., March 10

—Each week some new proposition comes from the White House promising to reduce unemployment. These vary all the way from paying veterans' insurance money in advance of dates due to increasing the minimum wage. To my mind none of them is of any real value. The first suggestion would put more money into circulation immediately, but would reduce the amount available later. As to increasing the minimum wage, this will cause merchants and others to reduce the number of their employees so that the higher wage will not cost them more in total. This will result in increasing unemployment without increasing total purchasing power.

Purchasing Power vs. Unemployment

When discussing these two factors, it is much like asking which came first—the hen or the egg? Each is dependent on the other; but in most cases increased purchasing must come before increased employment, and I think President Kennedy believes this in his heart. Hence, the soundest, cheapest, and quickest method of increasing purchasing is to increase advertising.

Advertising Appropriations are Now 'Upside Down'

Merchants advertise most when they have plenty of money, which usually means when business is good and there is full employment. Then, when business slows up and unemployment develops, these merchants reduce their advertising. This is why I say that the present advertising policy is "cockeyed." It may help the temporary profits of the merchant, but it is not for the nation's best interests; it is not economically sound. This especially applies to newspaper advertising, although it also may include radio, TV, and mail-order advertising. Furthermore, Congress would surely be increasing unemployment by increasing postal rates.

Subsidize Advertising

Think what would happen to employment if all advertising should suddenly be stopped? Such an action would create a national panic with over half the people unemployed. Certainly the government would be as justified in subsidizing merchants selling certain products as in subsidizing farmers living in certain states. These merchants are doing as much for the nation as the farmers. In fact, the farmers are dependent upon the merchants to sell their farm products. No one of us goes to the farmer direct to buy wheat, corn, potatoes, tobacco, barley, or any product of the farm.

I would advise against permitting the government to change advertising rates; but suggest allowing certain temporary payments to newspapers and broadcasters for increasing the advertising space or time devoted to promoting the sale of products which require much labor—the per cent of subsidy depending upon the amount of unemployment involved.

Russia and 'Full Employment'

President Kennedy cannot, or at least will not, go to Russia to seek disarmament while there is a large amount of unemployment in the United States. To make any satisfactory deal with Russia to reduce the "cold war," the President needs to have full employment here at home. Yes, we should actually have shortage of workers in order that those workers discharged by plants now making missiles, rockets, and other weapons will be able quickly to get jobs in peace industries.

Some of President Kennedy's suggestions will help the unemployment situation in a small way, but his ideas will not come near providing "full employment." Only advertising—natural or subsidized—will accomplish this. Subsidizing advertising to reduce unemployment is something which I would like personally to help with. Secretary of Defense McNamara should immediately operate a new division to study this problem which I am today urging in this column.

Cat Gets Charged

CLEVELAND, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. V. L. Stark reported hearing a funny noise from the hood of her new car. Stark, deciding the car needed its 5,000-mile checkup anyway, took it to the local dealer from whom he purchased it. The noise: A kitten perched atop the battery.

BRIDGE

Heart Lead Would Ruin

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Today's hand is one of my favorites and has appeared in the column before, so I apologize in advance to those readers who remember it.

I was North and Mrs. Jacoby was South. We were playing a rubber bridge match against two very good players, so good they were giving us a small handicap. In those days the vulnerable grand slam bonus was 2,250 points and needless to say well worth scoring.

We were playing the last rubber of the match and after the first round of bidding it was obvious to me that Mrs. Jacoby would not be allowed to play the hand below seven spades. It also seemed reasonable to mark her with the king of diamonds as part of her four-spade bid so my problem was to find a way of stopping a heart lead against a seven-spade contract.

The obvious way would be to bid six hearts over West's five hearts and then go on to seven spades if East and West went to seven hearts.

I decided that that was a trifle too obvious, West was one of the two or three best players of that day and would not fall for such moth-eaten strategy so I simply jumped right to seven spades.

Of course, I was lucky. West happened to hold the ace of clubs, but it is quite possible that he would have opened a club anyway. Of course, after that the slam was lay down. Mrs. Jacoby drew trumps and discarded her heart on my diamonds.

Jaycees Endorse Bond Issue Kleine Scores Olive's Stand

The Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce last night became the first organization in the Ontario Central Schools District to formally endorse the $1,016,500 bond issue.

The unanimous Jaycees action came after the group had heard three members of the Ontario administration at the monthly meeting at Deane's.

Trustee Marie Kleine of the Board of Education, District Principal William H. Deming and George Finigan, the district's financial officer, explained various factors relating to the bond issue before the Jaycees took formal action in the form of a motion by club president, Robert Carr, which was seconded by Joseph Murphy.

In his remarks, Finigan blasted a long standing claim by some of the Olive residents that Olive pays 48 per cent of the school taxes in the Ontario district. "The argument has been advanced in the past in relation to demands for representation for Olive on the Board of Education."

Finigan said Olive's actual share of the school tax roll is 44.07 per cent. "But," said Finigan, "of this amount about 85 per cent is paid by one taxpayer—New York City, because of its Ashokan Reservoir property in the township."

Mrs. Kleine was highly critical of the newly-formed Ontario District Voters Committee which for the record is pledged to get out the vote for the bond issue, without taking sides.

"My personal feeling is that the group representing itself as the Ontario District Voters Committee to get out the bond issue vote, could more properly be called the Ontario District Voters Committee to get out the negative vote," said Mrs. Kleine. Charges Deception

Commenting on Olive opposition to the proposed new eight classroom school at Phenicia, Mrs. Kleine said:

"We can justify the new school in Phenicia because the children are already there, without expansion or growth in the area."

"Contrary to statements that children would have to be imported from other areas to fill it," said Mrs. Kleine, "when it opens its doors will be occupied by kindergarten-through-fourth graders and the fifth and sixth graders will still be going to Boiceville. So justifiably we could build a 12-classroom school there if we wanted to make it a K-through-6 school."

Mrs. Kleine also took a swipe at Olive claims that more than $200,000 could be saved by adding eight rooms to the Bennett building, instead of building the new school at Phenicia. She said it was an illusory figure and did not reflect the true picture at Boiceville. She went into detail on factors that increase the final cost of an addition to Boiceville and took the position that the Olive claims were illogical and could be refuted in detail.

Mrs. Kleine expressed the gratitude of the Ontario Board of Education to the Jaycees for their endorsement of the bond issue. She said it was her hope "that we could all work together" and "it is the desire of all of us to resolve all of our individual problems in an effort to unify the district in support of the bond issue and continuing to provide quality education for the children of our district."

Medical and Bar Groups Discuss Mutual Problems

At the March meeting of the Ulster County Medical Society held Tuesday evening at the Wiltwyck Country Club, the physicians were joined by members of the Ulster County Bar Association. The objective was to promote discussion of problems which arise in the conduct of medical-legal procedures. Matters pertaining to malpractice were omitted.

Dr. Vincent Amatrano, president of the Medical Society, greeted the guest attorneys. There were about 100 members of the combined associations in attendance at the discussions, which were moderated by Supreme Court Justice L. G. Bruhn.

The meeting opened with a panel discussion by three members of each profession. Each panel was assigned a specific area of doctor-lawyer relationship on which brief presentations were given.

Special City Judge Arthur B. Ewig discussed the responsibilities of the doctor in his relationship to litigation. Dr. Eugene F. Galvin then discussed the problems of subpoena to physicians and the importance of carefully scheduling the physicians' testimony.

Dr. Robert F. Moseley commented on the difficulties resulting from insistence upon "Yes or No" answers to the complicated questions directed to physicians by attorneys. Attorney Andrew J. Cook Jr., emphasized the value and importance of pre-trial conferences between physician and attorney in preparing for court appearances.

Attorney N. LeVan Haver discussed the necessity for physicians submitting accurate and detailed medical reports to facilitate court proceedings.

The panel discussion concluded with Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., discussing medical economics and medical testimony in compensation cases. The meeting was then opened to questions from the physicians and attorneys who directed their queries to specific panel members or the moderator. Several areas of frequent difficulty in the day-to-day professional relations between doctors and lawyers were aired freely and frankly, and at the conclusion of the meeting it was commented generally that much had been accomplished in developing an understanding between the members of each profession of the problems of the other. Those present were given copies of a pamphlet entitled "Standards and Practice for Doctors and Lawyers" prepared as a joint effort of the State Medical Society and Bar Associations, and distributed by Communications Department of the New York State Medical Society. A buffet supper followed the meeting.

Two Parties Honor Truman On Senate Anniversary Date

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman Thursday night observed an anniversary, and the occasion was awash with nostalgia and good spirits.

President Kennedy popped in to help celebrate the 20th anniversary of the creation of the Senate War Investigating Committee, which served as Truman's springboard to national prominence.

The dinner party was arranged by Charles Patrick Clark, who served as counsel for that long ago committee Truman headed. Many of Washington's most prominent faces—old and new, Republican and Democrat—beamed at the former president around the banquet table.

Not Much Left Visibly moved by many tributes, Truman who is 76 told them: "I'm going to do what I can (for the country), but I haven't much left."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, arrived early to get Truman's autograph on a picture made at the Truman Library at Independence, Mo.

Just before the guests sat down for dinner—they included Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Chief Justice Earl Warren and Speaker Sam Rayburn—President Kennedy bustled in.

Birthday Is May 29 Kennedy, his blue striped shirt hardly in keeping with the black-tie affair, did a lot of handshaking, and hurried off into an adjoining room to greet a dinner for Democratic party fund raisers.

Kennedy told this group he will attend a May 27 fund raising ball to be given in honor of his 44th birthday. He didn't mind, Kennedy said, that his birthday is really May 29. "Of course," the President said, "this is just an excuse on which to have a dinner to raise some money. I am told we owe a million dollars more than we thought we did. We certainly could not have afforded to lose this election."

Owes $2.8 Million National Chairman John M. Bailey estimated the party deficit at $2.8 million.

To demonstrate his affection for Truman, Kennedy told the party dinner he hopes to attend a ceremony at Independence April 15 dedicating a Thomas H. Benton mural in the Truman Library. The mural depicts the starting of westward trail blazing from Independence.

Truman, in return, promised to come to Washington to speak at the May 27 party fund-raising dinner.

Former Veep Says

Video Will Never Supplant Printed Word in Politics

NEW YORK (AP)—Television will never supplant the printed word in politics, says former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

In a telegram Thursday to the annual banquet of the Radio and Television Executives Society, Nixon said:

"Television is powerful but still is an infant factor in politics. It will never supplant the printed word, but its full force is yet to be seen and employed."

Japan Is Probing Kyushu Disaster, 71 Miners Killed

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP)—The government and a coal mine company today began investigating the death of 71 Japanese miners in a fire 1,000 feet under the ground.

A committee from Parliament plans to inspect the southern Kyushu disaster scene, where all but 20 of 91 miners working in the tunnel suffocated Thursday from the fire's carbon monoxide fumes.

Envoy Indicates Optimism in Report to JFK

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson sent a report to President Kennedy today on his four-hour talk with Premier Khrushchev. He indicated the report was optimistic.

The Soviet leader interrupted a Siberian tour Thursday to receive the American envoy, who flew to Novosibirsk to deliver the message from Kennedy he had brought from Washington.

Fellowship of the Methodist Church of Shady. The service will be held in the field adjoining the church and facing the east. Following the service, light refreshments of hot cross buns, coffee and tea will be served in the church hall. The general public is invited to participate in this service.

Plattekill Board Adopts Building Code for Township

Officers of the Plattekill Town Board Wednesday night accepted the applicability of the New York State building code to become effective June 1, Supervisor Howard Simpson, Clintondale, said today. The resolution was passed by a four-to-one vote with Justice James Palen voting against the resolution.

The action to accept the state building code was taken on the recommendation of Plattekill Planning Board who have made a study of the building practices in Plattekill Township (Modena, Clintondale, Ardonia, Plattekill) and "found that buildings are being erected not conforming to accepted building standards," according to Ony P. Orlowski, chairman of the Plattekill Planning Board.

Russell Crocco, Modena, and Orloski, Plattekill, made known to the town officials of the progress made in formulating subdivision regulations and told of the requirements for the approval of subdivision plans.

The Plattekill Planning Board was authorized by the Town Board to proceed with formulating regulations and requirements for approval of subdivision plans to be presented to the Town Board.

In addition Planning Board members made known today that they are currently working on a land use map and community survey.

Other officers of the Town Board are Councilman William Doolittle, Councilman Richard Coy and Justice of Peace Vincent Porcelli. Other members of the Plattekill Planning Board are Andrew Montrolla, Joseph Vega, Richard Abbott, Luciano Diaz and John Jacobs.

College Men Are Offered Language Training in Army

GOVERNORS ISLAND, N. Y. — Almost every American, sooner or later, must fulfill a military obligation, and chances are that in the present cold war situation he will find a foreign language a necessity.

Today, the U. S. Army offers an enlistment plan whereby qualified college men, without previous military service, in the First Army area (New York, New Jersey and New England) may discharge Universal Military Training and Service obligations by enlistment in Army Intelligence School, Fort Holabird, Md., both under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955; and specialized language training at the U. S. Army Language School, Presidio of Monterey, Calif., for the period prescribed for the particular language, but not to exceed 47 weeks.

For additional information contact your local USAR Center, or the Intelligence Officer at Headquarters, XIII U. S. Army Corps Headquarters at Fort Devens, Mass., or Headquarters, II U. S. Army Corps at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Homicide Charged In '52 Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—Steelworker Fred Floyd has been charged with homicide in the fatal shooting of a druggist more than eight years ago. Floyd was 16 at the time of the shooting.

Police said Floyd was an accomplice of Thomas F. Herrmann of Oxford Springs, Orange County, N. Y., in the robbery of druggist Samuel Cohen, 64, on Nov. 20, 1952.

Herrmann has confessed to shooting Cohen during the $22 robbery, police said. They said he also confessed to the fatal beating last June of Mrs. Mary Phelan, a 54-year-old Bronx mother of four.

In charging Floyd with homicide Thursday after his arrest, police quoted him as saying Herrmann had brought a gun with him to the holdup. Police said Floyd stood at the door during the robbery, heard a shot and fled with Herrmann.

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (AP)—Ousted Premier Adnan Menderes and three former members of Parliament from his disbanded Democrat party were convicted today on the charge of using terror tactics to smother opposition at the town of Canakkale in 1959.

Sentencing was put off until completion of the mass trial of leaders of Menderes' regime.

Crew Leaves, Boat Too

MANNHEIM, Germany (AP)—The crew of the 390-ton river boat Europa tied up at Neulandheim, near Mannheim, Wednesday night and went ashore for a beer. When they returned the boat was gone.

A 21-year-old workman had gone aboard, lifted the anchor and drifted down the Rhine. The Europa banged into several other boats and hit a pontoon bridge, springing two leaks, before it nosed into the river bank 7 miles below Neulandheim.

Police said the hijacker is being held for a psychiatric examination.

START CIVIL DEFENSE INSTRUCTION—Civil Defense classes for "Medical Aide, Third Class" will be given at the Port Ewen School under the Adult Education Program after the Easter vacation. Mrs. Merrill A. Yapple, left, Deputy Nurse Officer of Ulster County, discusses the programs with (l-r) Mrs. Frederick Staley, RN; Mrs. Gen Tinnie, RN, and Mrs. William Windrum, RN. The latter three nurses will instruct the classes. Mrs. Rudy Firmback, standing left, is the program chairman of the Port Ewen P-TA, and Mrs. Sterling Atkins, standing right, is in charge of class registrations. (Freeman photo)

Classes in Civil Defense Will Be Offered in Port Ewen

Because of the tremendous interest shown at a recent P-TA meeting in Port Ewen, following an informative talk by Major H. Edgar Timmerman, director of Civil Defense of Ulster County, three classes for the training of Medical Aides will begin in April at the Port Ewen School.

This is an introductory course on the basic principles of helping professional personnel during the event of a nuclear disaster or helping others in the community in the event of any type of accident. Included in the class work will be the latest treatment for burns, and artificial respiration.

So many individuals have expressed their desire for this type of training that three separate classes must be started at the same time in order to meet the demand. There will be 15-20 students in each class with instruction given by Mrs. Gen Tinnie, RN, Mrs. William Windrum, RN, and Mrs. Frederick Staley, RN, at the Port Ewen School under the Adult Education program. Registration for the 10-hour course given over a five week period may be made through the Port Ewen School or Mrs. Sterling Atkins by March 16. All individuals not attending a public school are urged to take advantage of these sessions.

Chester Barth is the newly appointed director of Civil Defense for the town of Esopus. At the present time, medical aides are being trained in Saugerties. A class in Radiological Monitoring is being given at the Ulster County Control Center in the basement of the Court House, 285 Wall Street.

Vanderlyn Council Observes 57th Year

Vanderlyn Council 41, Daughters of America, observed its 57th anniversary at a recent meeting with state officers as guests.

State officers received were Tressa Swibold, past state councilor; Anna Hornbeck of Saugerties, deputy over Vanderlyn Council; Hilda Van Etten, District 6 deputy; Matilda Hahn, deputy over Imperial Council 16 of Saugerties and Winifred Kieffer, deputy over Rondout Valley Council 110, Ellenville.

Although six of the original 78 charter members survive none were able to attend the meeting. Oldest living member is Walter Brangan Sr., of Saugerties who was 99 in January.

During the meeting Mildred Burgher presented a 50-star American Flag to the council for the altar as a gift from the Past Councilors Club. She was assisted by Charlotte Jones, substituting for the junior past councilor and Luella Giles, associate junior past councilor. Tressa Swibold was pianist. A social hour with refreshments followed the business meeting.

Women in Politics Is Discussed Here At LWV Meeting

Two of Ulster County's leading political women told the League of Women Voters Monday evening, that the woman's role in politics is vitally important in today's world. Speakers were Mrs. Raymond Le Fever, vice chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Mrs. Albert Kerr, state Democratic Committeewoman. The general meeting was held at the Kingston City Library. Mrs. Ellsworth Johnson, president of the League, presided at the meeting along with Mrs. Edward De Groff, voters service chairman, who served as moderator.

Mrs. LeFever stated that elections have been won and lost by one vote. She stressed the importance of the woman's vote especially in view of the fact that there were 662 more women than men voting in Ulster County.

Mrs. Kerr stated that primary voting was vitally important and that primaries are not held unless there is a contest and greater voter interest is shown. In order to vote in a primary, one must be an enrolled member of a party.

Both women hoped more young people would take an interest in politics and possibly embark on a political career.

The important role of the County Chairman for both parties were discussed by Mrs. LeFever and Mrs. Kerr. As County party leader, the Chairman interprets local party attitudes to the state committee, along with making decisions on party policy on local issues.

A question and answer period was conducted after the panel discussion.

Mrs. John Hoffer, Court Reform Chairman, and Mrs. Robert McDonald brought the members up to date on the Erwin-Lounsberry Court Reform bill, which has now passed in two consecutive State Legislatures. This bill will be presented to the public in a referendum next fall. If adopted, this will be the first major reorganization of the courts since 1846.

Mrs. Jeremiah Sachs, chairman of the State Continuing Responsibilities Committee for the League, asked members to write to their Senator and Assemblyman urging the passage of bills dealing with Permanent Personal Registration by 1963, and a bill fixing the primary date permanently at the third Tuesday in June. For further information Mrs. Sachs may be contacted.

A general meeting will be held on Monday, March 20 at 8:30 in the Children's Room of the Kingston City Library. The subjects which will be discussed in an informal group will be on the importance of voting in the primary and also on permanent personal registration. Audience participation will be encouraged and the public is welcome to attend. A film entitled "Where Were You" will be shown. Mrs. Sachs will preside.

WEEKEND AT MAN'S COLLEGE

Q: My son is a freeman at college in another state. He would like to invite a hometown girl to a Spring Festival weekend at his college. He feels he is obliged to pay for her hotel accommodations. I am of the opinion that it is improper for a man to pay for a young woman's lodging and that he merely makes a reservation for her at the hotel but she pays her own bill. What is correct in this situation?

A: It is not proper for a man alone to pay the hotel bill of a woman alone. However, in a college situation, where there is no other place such as a fraternity house or dormitory given over to the girl guests, it is quite customary for the boys to get together and engage rooms for their guests at the local hotels which the girls share, and in this case the boys pay the bill.

Including Prominent Ancestors In Announcement

Q: In announcing the engagement of one's daughter, is it correct to state that she is a direct descendant of so and so and the great granddaughter of so and so? They are notable people and we are very proud of our ancestry. Would such information be in good taste?

A: If your family is a prominent one, it would be quite proper to include any information about the bride and groom-to-be that is considered newsworthy.

Passing Those Already Seated

Q: A friend and I disagree on the proper way to enter a row in a theater when occupying inner seats. Some say it is proper to face the stage. I say it is wrong to turn your back on people and that it is more courteous to face them as you pass. Will you settle this, please?

A: You pass those seated in whatever way will disturb them the least, this is usually by facing the stage. If they should stand up for you, or if there should be more than ordinary amount of space between the seats, you would pass facing them.

Members of the group have offered their homes for a series of luncheons for the benefit of Hadassah's Medical Organization.

Those who wish to attend should contact Mrs. Arthur Landesman or Mrs. Robert Yallum tonight. Groups of bridge, Canasta, Mah Jongg and other games are being arranged for the afternoon.

Passover Event Plans Discussed By Talmud Torah

The Talmud Torah of the Kingston Board met recently to plan for the celebration of the Passover holiday.

It was decided to hold two separate Seder services, one on Sunday morning, March 19, for the primary grades, and the second on Sunday night, March 26.

The March 19 event will be arranged by the teachers, Louis Klein and Mrs. Lotar Saluc, and directed by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport and will be held at the Jewish Community Center. Parents are invited.

In the evening of March 26 at Congregation Ahavath Israel the Hebrew School students and parents will be invited to a complete Seder service. Rabbi Jacob Rubenstein will prepare the religious service. A committee consisting of Mrs. Alfred Horowitz, Ephraim Propp, Max Eckdich and Ted Weiner will arrange for the Seder meal.

The Talmud Torah Board, as a service to those families who wish to procure holiday candles and cakes, are making these conveniences available through Mrs. Sylvia Farber, financial secretary, and Mrs. Morris Nussbaum, in charge of the Passover candy and cake sale. Orders will be taken by mail or phone until March 20. Deliveries will be made in time for the first Seder on Friday night, March 31.

Another Typical Day

Judy Back Before Cameras Again; Dennis Loses Bid

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Judy Garland returned to the movie cameras for the first time in nearly seven years.

Dennis Crosby failed to upset a paternity judgement.

A judge allowed actor Clifford Robertson more visits to his 2-year-old daughter.

Federal income tax men filed liens against Carol Channing, Harry James and Betty Grable.

Excited Return

So went one day in the movie capital.

Miss Garland said her return Thursday left her as excited as if she were starting her career over.

She did the first of an expected eight days' work for 8½ minutes of scenes in "Judgment at Nuremberg," about postwar trials of German judges.

A judge refused Dennis Crosby's plea for reversal of a jury verdict holding he is the father of a divorcee's daughter. A new trial also was denied.

Dennis, son of crooner Bing, did get a reduction from $100 to $80 weekly in support payments to the divorcee, Mrs. Marilyn Miller Scott, 28, for 3-year-old Denise Michele.

A Santa Monica court increased actor Clifford Robertson's child visitation rights.

Robertson's ex-wife, Cynthia Stone, 34, former TV actress, said she thought more visits by Robertson, 35, would confuse their daughter, Stephanie, 2, and Christopher, 6, her child by a former marriage to actor Jack Lemmon.

One Visit Till Now

But the court held that Robertson could take Stephanie from her mother's home on Saturdays and visit her on Wednesday mornings. The actor had been allowed one visit weekly.

The Internal Revenue Service filed tax liens against actress Carol Channing, bandleader Harry James and his wife Betty Grable.

The government says Miss Channing owes $15,795 for 1959 and the Jameses $46,654 also for 1959.

Lenten Worship

Lenten services of worship will be conducted Sunday in the churches of the New Paltz Methodist Parish at 8:30 and 11 a. m. in the New Paltz Church; 9:15 a. m. in the Lloyd Church; and at 2 p. m. in the Plutarch Church.

Special music will be offered by the senior choir under the direction of Ralph Dennis, at the 11 o'clock service, and Jesse Nkoba of the Congo, and Phil White will sing a duet; What a Friend We Have in Jesus, Mrs. Kenneth Baumgartner, Miss Linda Dyer, and George Meyer are the organists for the services.

The Rev. Willett Porter will preach on Our Belief in Christ as a part of the Lenten series on Basic Christian Beliefs.

Lenten Study

The Lenten Study Group, meeting Wednesday evenings in the New Paltz Methodist Church Educational Wing, will continue this next week in its study of Basic Christian Beliefs with a discussion on Belief in Christ. The course is led by Mrs. Willett Porter assisted by a panel of the Rev. Mr. Porter, Peter A. Jacobs, Mrs. Alvin Beatty and Mrs. John Eason. Visitors may attend the sessions which begin at 8 p. m.

New Scoutmaster

The appointment of Frederick Sutter as new Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 77, sponsored by New Paltz Methodist Church, has been announced. Mr. Sutter, formerly Assistant Scoutmaster of the troop and more recently Southern District Commissioner of the Rip Van Winkle Council, takes the place of William R. Morris, who has become advisor of the newly-organized Explorer Post 77, meeting Friday evenings at the local church. Mr. Sutter took over his new duties last Thursday evening.

Baptism Palm Sunday

The Sacrament of Baptism will next be administered in New Paltz Methodist Church on Palm Sunday, March 26. Arrangements may be made for the Sacrament to be administered by calling the pastor or the church.

Teacher Training

The sub-district teacher training school being held in the New Paltz Methodist Church on Tuesday evenings during Lent continues this coming week, with classes being offered for teachers of nursery-kindergarten, primary, junior, junior-high and senior high children and young people. Courses are also offered for adult class teachers and church school superintendents. Registration for the school is well over 60, with 10 churches participating. The instructors are Mrs. Charles Cooper, Modena; Dr. Josephine Palmer, New Paltz; the Rev. Richard Smith, Yorktown Heights; the Rev. Arthur Hewitt, Milton; the Rev. and Mrs. L. Wayne Dunlap, Highland; and the Rev. Stanley Jones, Walden. The Revs. George Johnson and Willett Porter are the dean and treasurer, respectively.

Paltz Board Meets

The mid-Lenten meeting of the official board of New Paltz Methodist Church will be held Monday, 7:45 p. m., at the parsonage, 3 Grove Street. All stewards, trustees, and organizational leaders may attend.

Junior Choir Project

The junior choir of the New Paltz Methodist Church has increased in number during the past two months to the extent that ten new choir robes are needed. The needed robes have been ordered, received, and now are to be paid for. Contributions are being received from members of the congregation toward the project.

The junior choir, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Steiner, will next sing at morning worship, Palm Sunday, March 26, and again Easter Sunday, April 2.

Education Wing Rites

Announcement is made of the forthcoming dedication of the new educational wing of New Paltz Methodist Church, to take place on Sunday morning, May 21, with the Rev. Dr. John M. Pearson, superintendent of the Newburgh District of the Methodist Church, presiding.

The nearly extinct kiwi is the national bird of New Zealand.

Fair Street Church Will Sponsor Gala Fashion Show Monday

The Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Fair Street Reformed Church will sponsor a fashion show Monday, 8 p. m. at the Fair Street Reformed Church. In addition to those pictured, the following will also model: the Meses, William Trumbour, Howard Spaulding, John Alley, Richard Rand,

Stewart Farley Jr., Samuel Wilson, Arling Kallenberg, Robert Pomeroy and the Meses Sally Shurtler and Sandy DePaola. Several local merchants will be showing the latest spring fashions for all ages from the young girl to the matron. Styles will include sportswear, formals, maternity clothes and hats. The climax of the evening will be the appearance of a typical American family on their way to Easter Sunday service. Modeling the latest fashions in this scene will be Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pepper and daughters, Fran and Julia. Tickets are available from any member of the Guild or Mrs. Benjamin Emerick, ticket chairman. Refreshments will be served.

Ways to Brag Are Legion, And All Are Transparent

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Have you ever noticed how many ways women have of bragging to each other?

There's the complaining approach: "I told Jim I didn't want a thing for my birthday after all we spent on that winter cruise. And then the idiot went down and bought me an expensive mink stole. I think he ought to have his head examined."

There is a rueful approach: "Just what do you do about a teenage daughter who is so busy dating, cheer-leading and going to parties that she doesn't have time to study?"

Then there is the "busy, busy, busy" approach: "I've meant to call you but I've been so busy. You know I'm president of the Guild now, and I've been working my head off as chairman of . . . And, of course, you know the asking approach: "I'd like your advice about junior. He has been offered scholarships to several colleges and it is hard knowing which one he ought to take."

Then there is the "I'm so lucky" build-up. "I know I'm lucky, but my children have never given me a moment's trouble."

And let's not overlook the name-dropping habit. The more important the person the more important it is to be able to use a first name—for better yet, a nickname.

One thing all forms of bragging have in common is that they are never as subtle as they are meant to be.

No matter how cleverly one woman thinks she is about slipping a little bragging into her conversation, the woman she's trying to impress always knows what's coming.

Wiltwyck Unit

The regular business meeting of Wiltwyck Unit was held at 408 Broadway, Monday, March 6, at 1:30 p. m. with Mrs. Jacob Francis presiding.

Due to illness the nominating committee was unable to present a slate of officers. Election will take place at the next meeting.

Members voted to have a covered dish luncheon at the April meeting. All members are requested to bring their own place setting. Mrs. Hollis Burhans will conduct a silent auction at that time. All members are asked to bring some article for the auction.

Members enjoyed looking at the display of plastic flowers and purses made recently by members of the Unit.

Refreshments were served by the hostess of the day, Mrs. C. V. Gunther assisted by Mrs. Eugene Rider and Mrs. Eugene Cornwell. Mrs. William Abernathy and Miss Grace Palisi poured.

The next business meeting will be held Tuesday, April 4, at 1:30 p. m. Color slides of spring flowering shrubs and the Christmas open house held at the auditorium were shown.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

Justice in our early Western courts was willing enough, but frequently abysmally ignorant. In a certain California trial the suspect having established his innocence of the charge against him by an alibi had the satisfaction of hearing the prosecuting attorney remark to the court: I think Your Honor, that this trial had better stop right here. The alibi has been fully established.

I think so myself, replied his Honor, with an approving nod; and then, summoning the prosecutor to his side, in a stage whisper which was only too audible throughout the courtroom. I say, what is the penalty for an alibi?

The reporter who gathers his news in the cafe has to have a larger expense account than the fellow who picks up his notes in a barber shop.

Farmer—Fertilizer.
Inmate—What are you going to do with it?
Farmer—Put it on my strawberries.
Inmate—We put cream on ours, and they say we're crazy.

Lower Test Pipe Into Ocean

Scientists Ready to Find What's Inside World

CAREFREE — Actress Joan Collins is roaming Europe, sticking close to her current heart throb, actor Warren Beatty, as he fulfills film chores abroad. Her prolonged absence from Hollywood has led to a hassle with her studio bosses at 20th Century-Fox and has cost her several good film roles.

Off Danger List

Liz Breathing Without Oxygen

LONDON (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor breathed today without the aid of an oxygen machine for the first time in a week. "The machine is still in her room," said Sue Cardozo, a friend of the film star and her temporary press secretary, "but she's getting along without it right now."

Miss Taylor, 29, was taken off the danger list Thursday after a desperate battle against double pneumonia in which the doctors twice despaired of saving her. Early today her pulse and temperature were normal and a bulletin said she was "further improved."

"Elizabeth is smiling and talking," Miss Cardozo reported, "but talking is an effort for her. You see, she still has a tube in her throat to aid her breathing and this makes conversation pretty difficult."

Her doctors said they probably would remove the breathing tube, inserted during emergency surgery last Saturday, in the next day or two. After visiting Miss Taylor for 15 minutes today, Dr. Victor Ratner, one of the seven physicians attending her, told newsmen: "Her condition continues to show further improvement. Tests conducted to keep her off oxygen completely have been very successful."

California GOP To Hear Nixon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon speaks before the Republican State Central Committee here Saturday in his first political appearance since the November election. There's no advance assurance that the former vice president will say yes, or no, or maybe to running for governor of California.

Mother Halts Hatching Try

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The baby sitter couldn't understand why Kevin Fox, 4, sat so quietly in a corner, but she didn't question her luck. The usually rambunctious tot sat quiet and cross-legged nearly three hours on the floor Thursday. When his mother returned, however, she decided something was wrong and lifted him to his feet. "Not time, not time," he cried, and two eggs rolled out of the corner where he had been sitting. Kevin hadn't been there long enough to hatch the eggs he took from the refrigerator.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Scientists have taken the first real step in the exploration of inner space.

Their aim: Find out what's inside the world. Scholars have wondered for years, and the answers may tell us how life began and how the earth itself came into being.

The project is Operation Mohole, being conducted off the coast of Southern California.

The first step Thursday was the lowering of more than 3,000 feet of drill pipe to the ocean bottom, then drilling a few feet into the sediment. Operations are conducted from a special drilling ship.

Cores punched from the sub-oceanic bottom will be brought up in subsequent days. The core material will be of great interest to scientists because it comes from a kind of earth layer never more than superficially penetrated.

First Learning Step

It will be the first learning step toward getting samples from an earth level which may have been this world's surface a billion or so years ago.

Getting samples from that level will take several years, several million dollars and considerable experimentation.

Late drilling will be in deeper water—12,000 feet and more—off the coast of North America.

The site is near Gudaup Island off the coast of northwest Mexico.

If the tests succeed fully — reaching the original surface where life began—scientists may uncover the course of the evolution of life by age.

The goal is to drill through the earth's outer crust and reach into its mantle, which scientists believe is a very hard kind of rock 3½ to 10 miles below the top crust.

Depth Needed

Previous drilling at sea has been done through shallow water about 400 feet deep. Such efforts have penetrated to about 10,000 feet below the earth surface, but the sediment at that level is less revealing scientifically than material below greater ocean depths.

Mohole — technically called "Mohorovicic Discontinuity" — is a mysterious division between the crust and the mantle, and gives the project its name. The work is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

Says Teen Girls Often Cause of Juvenile Fights

WASHINGTON (AP) — A social worker says "promiscuous, truant and violent" teen-age girls are often the cause of juvenile gang wars.

"They are rumor carriers, trouble carriers, weapon carriers, narcotic carriers and sometimes disease carriers," Arthur J. Rogers told the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency Thursday. He is an assistant to the New York City Youth Services Commission.

MISS CHINATOWN — Irene Tsu, 18, of New York City, is "Miss Chinatown, U.S.A." for 1961. She is 5'5", weighs 110 pounds and measures 36-23-36½. She plans to major in mathematics at the University of Southern California.

Hollywood News, Views

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Action! Push him on the stairs! Now, kick! Throw the vase! Now get out of their fast!"

This direction was not a re-play of silent movie days, but a talking motion picture being filmed in March 1961. If there was any throwback to early Hollywood times, it was in one vital factor: enthusiasm.

Now Acting

The enthusiast was Edmond O'Brien, who is directing the new Paramount picture, "Deadlock." Yes, the same Ed O'Brien who has acted everything from Shakespeare to sleuths.

But he isn't acting now—not in front of the camera, anyway. Behind the camera, it's another matter.

"Eddie is great," remarked Jeffrey Hunter, who stars in "Deadlock" with David Janssen and Stella Stevens. "It's wonderful to have a director who really understands the actor's problems."

Four K HS Seniors to Play Last Home Basketball Contest

READY FOR ACTION—Kingston High players, John Duffner (left) and John Falvey, who share the center position for the DUSO League champions, will be seen in action tonight when the locals face Clarkstown in a Section Nine game at 8 o'clock at the Kate Walton Field House. (Freeman photos)

Glenierie Club Bridge Results

Herbert Gertner of Kingston and Harry Sanger of Woodstock turned in an exceptionally high 67 per cent game to take top honors on the East-West side of the Glenierie Bridge Club.

Miss Dorothy Maroon of Kingston and Dr. Paul Perlman, Woodstock, led the North-South side with 56 per cent as 21 boards were in play in a Mitchell movement.

Dr. William Dean and Louis W. Kaye of Kingston were second on the North-South side with 54 per cent. Mr. and Mrs. A. Crisafulli of Boiceville were third with 52 per cent.

Runners up on the East-West side were Paul Mezer and Morton Honig of Kingston with 60 per cent. Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston and John Chapman of Poughkeepsie had 56 per cent for third place.

A fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Ridgeley Casino in Stone Ridge.

Wedded Bliss

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (NEA) — A game played at Syracuse University indicates that marriage helps in basketball, especially if the contestants are football players.

Paced by quarterback Dave Sarette, marrier football player downed a team of bachelor football stars on the court. Adding insult to injury, Sarette, a six-foot junior from Manchester, N. H., outscored All-America halfback Ernie Davis, 6-2 Elmiria, N. Y. junior.

Davis was a high school All-America in basketball.

Uhl, Smedes, Brown, Komosa Will Bid Adios

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Four Kingston High School seniors, including Joe Uhl, will make their last home appearance tonight as the DUSO champions play Clarkstown in the first game of the Section Nine Class A cage tourney. Game time at the Kate Walton Field House is 8 p. m.

In addition to Uhl, other seniors are Vince Smedes and Al Brown, two starters, and reserve Don Komosa. The others on the 11-man squad are all juniors and they'll be around again next season.

Uhl will graduate from Kingston with a host of records in his possession. His 44 points against Fallsburgh during 1959-60 stand as the individual high at the school. He tallied 40 on two different occasions this season, against Poughkeepsie and Monticello and they rate as next high.

The Blonde Bomber has a career total of 1250 points in 49 games for a remarkable average of 25.5. The previous mark was 1066, held by Palmer "Skip" Brodhead. Uhl's 517 points during the 1959-60 season broke the record of 500, held previously by LeRoy Hooker. With 470 markers in 18 games this year, Uhl has a chance to better last season's mark, providing Kingston wins tonight's contest and gets to play a 20th game.

Missed Eight Games
Uhl has been held under 20 points only four times in 38 league games. He had 13 against Newburgh and 12 against Poughkeepsie as a sophomore but the latter game he played only 12 minutes, suffering a severe ankle injury which put him out of action for the final eight games.

As a junior, the sharpshooter had 17 points at Port Jervis and at Poughkeepsie. This year he has tallied at least 20 against every club in the league with his low total being 22 at Port Jervis. Joe has been a unanimous selection for the All-DUSO first team three straight seasons and was also elected the "Player of the Year" this past season without opposition. Coach John Gilligan said that the 6-1 star is the best player he's coached at Kingston High and there aren't many who doubt his word.

Two Years a Starter
The other seniors on the squad were also valuable performers. Brown has been a starter for two years and has contributed much to the team with his all-around hustle. He had to sacrifice his shooting ability to set up plays and to direct the offense after being a top scorer on the jayvee squad.

Smedes saw action with the jayvees as a sophomore and bypassed basketball during his junior year. He started off slowly this season but during the second half of the schedule he proved to be an invaluable performer. He's the club's best defensive player and has averaged 10 points a game.

Komosa didn't see much action but he was always ready when needed and in several games, he proved to be a good player to have around.

If Kingston wins tonight, the team will play the winner of the Newburgh at Haverstraw battle for the Section Nine title and the game is slated for Saturday, March 18, at the Orange County Community college court in Middletown.

Wynn Won't Yield To Father Time

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — At 41, Early Wynn refuses to yield to Father Time. Although he has lost some of the hop on his fast ball and he may need an extra day of rest between assignments, the burly right-hander is still the solid man of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.

Wynn is fully aware that he must hang up his glove some time but he insists it won't be for at least three or four more years.

"Why, the addition of two new teams alone will add another year or two to my career," he said. Wynn is more concerned with this year than he is with the future.

"I need 16 victories to reach 300," he pointed out. "I want those games more than anything I've ever wanted in my life. I'll get them, too, but I'd like to get them this year. I think I will, provided I don't get hurt."

Wynn won only 13 games last year but he finished strong, winning 11 in the second half of the season.

Wynn figures he should win from 16 to 20 games this year. The rugged campaigner, who will be starting his 21st year in the American League, calls himself a fortunate man for being around so long.

"There aren't many 35 or older guys around," he said. "You've got to be lucky to stay around as long as I have."

Collegiate Wrestling Tournament Opens

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — The 57th annual Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association tournament opens today with six individual champions back to defend their titles and Pitt and Penn State among the top contenders.

Sixteen schools will be competing with 144 wrestlers entered in the two-day tournament.

State Deer Take Hits 45,755; Ulster Total Second Highest Ulster county was one of the most productive areas in New York state during the 1960 deer hunting season, annual figures of the State Conservation Department confirmed today.

The county produced the second largest number of deer, 3,417, of the record breaking total kill of 45,755 in the state. Sullivan county provided the most deer, 4,896, and Delaware had 3,325.

The Catskill mountain area was again the most lucrative in the state with a take of 21,947, the second biggest ever for this area. Conservation Department officials attributed the large take in part to the new party-permit system. The 1960 take of 45,755 deer exceeds by more than 3,000 the deer take of the previous year (42,306) but fell far below the record. A total of 10,717 deer were bagged under the party-permit system held for the first time last year, and 842 were downed by archers.

C. W. Severinghaus, game researcher, said Thursday that with the exception of the Adirondack area, record deer kills should no longer be expected because herds had been trimmed to size compatible with land capacity.

The party-permit plan allowed a group of four hunters to shoot five deer in the Adirondack and Catskill - Taconic areas, and a party of six were allowed seven deer in the Northern Catskill-Central New York area.

Severinghaus called the party-permit system "reasonably successful," but said the take was less than expected. About 66 per cent of the groups were successful.

Archers bagged 842 deer in the season.

The deer kill, by regions, was: 21,947 in the Catskills, the second biggest take for that area; Adirondacks, 12,213; and Central and Western counties, 11,595.

Hunters shot 34,065 adult bucks, 1,856 buck fawns, 8,079 adult does, and 1,755 doe fawns.

Sullivan county provided the most deer, 4,896 and Ulster was second with 3,417.

Gunsners took 382 deer in Westchester's special late season.

Kentucky Stumbling Block To Buckeyes' NCAA Chances

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Who's the biggest stumbling block in mighty Ohio State's bid to repeat as National Collegiate basketball champion? Down Blue Grass way, and maybe elsewhere too, they're likely to tell you it's Adolph Rupp, now that his revitalized Kentucky Wildcats have parlayed a 10-game winning streak into a record 12th appearance in the NCAA tournament.

The Wildcats, all but written off after they lost three of their first four conference games and won only eight of their first 15 over-all, showed Thursday night they've come all the way back by crushing Vanderbilt 88-67 in a neutral court playoff to determine the Southeastern Conference representative in the tournament.

Now it's on to the NCAA Mid-East regional at Louisville for the Wildcats. If Kentucky gets past its first NCAA game, March 17, and Ohio State also wins its first game, they'll be matched in the Mid-East regional final the next night.

Hold One Victory
For the record, Ohio State—everybody's No. 1 and now riding a 28-game winning streak—has lost only three games in the two years Jerry Lucas and buddies John Havlicek, Larry Siegfried and Mel Nowell have been together. One of the three losses was to—you guessed it—the Kentucky Wildcats, 96-93, back in December 1959.

The Wildcats have one tune-up before the tournament opens—playing their regular season finale against another NCAA-bound team, Marquette, at Chicago Stadium Saturday night.

Marquette rallied behind Don Kojis to whip Xavier of Ohio, 77-74. NCAA-bound St. John's (N. Y.) pushed its winning streak to nine, 76-64 over New York U., and Tennessee State, the No. 2 small college power, which had been clamoring for a bid to the National Invitation Tournament, was upset 92-82 by Winston-Salem Teachers in other features of Thursday night's programs. The loss knocked Tennessee State out of a return trip to the NAIA small college tournament at Kansas City, which State had won two of the last three years.

Oklahoma State defeated Oklahoma 60-47 to clinch at least a third place tie in the Big Eight Conference, and Manhattan ended its season with a 78-69 triumph over Fordham in other major games Thursday night.

Perini Sees End Of Segregation

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves, believes that the end of segregation for Negro baseball players in the South is "just around the corner"—if baseball men are permitted to do the job. "The time for integration will come soon—so soon that it's right around the corner," Perini said. "But let us in baseball do it by ourselves, without the interference of would-be-gooders. These people want to make political capital out of the situation and take credit for the job when it's already done."

"It is baseball's job. We want it to happen. It will happen, but not by some great demonstration which builds up to threat and more resistance."

Perini came here to see his 1961 candidates work out and to discuss plans for the season with club officials.

Patterson Looks Good in Final Boxing Workout

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's final boxing workout was the talk of the town today. Whether this was a good sign or not for Patterson remains to be seen.

While opponent Ingemar Johansson visited friends in the Palm Beach area, the 26-year-old champion bombed his sparring partners Thursday with a full assortment of punches. They were thrown from all angles with precision, speed and power. Many of them were unloaded in clusters of two, three and four.

When it was all over sparmates Wilson Hannibal and John Henry said the champ never looked better.

"He'll knock Ingemar's head off," said Henry, a 210-pounder from New York. "I don't think it will go five rounds."

But Patterson, after the workout said, "I didn't go all out. I have had much better workouts." Patterson defends his title against Johansson in their third fight at Miami Beach's Convention Hall Monday night.

At his press conference following the workout, Patterson made a pitch to help the ticket sale. He said another thousand tickets will be available at $20 each.

A source in a position to know said that the fight will do well to gross $500,000 on a sale of 12,000 tickets for the 17,000-seat hall.

The closed circuit telecast to theaters and arenas, however, represents the big payoff for the fighters. The fight will be shown in 207 locations in the U. S. and Canada.

The Nimrod's Corner

By Old Doc

Recent warm rains had cleared a great deal of the snow from the hollows of the Catskills before our latest storm, and unless there is an abrupt change in the trend of the weather, opening day conditions that will greet the angler, should be just about perfect. The high water which occurs annually, has not reached the height of many past springs. This should mean the trout that have wintered over should not have experienced too difficult a time. Much of the aquatic insects and other stream foods on which the trout feed when the water warms up, should still be intact forecasting some better than average fly fishing at least by post-war standards.

HATCHERY TRUCKS ON THE WAY

The good levels of the streams will also mean that the pre-season stocking of trout will take place on schedule. The Conservation Department, as has been the practice for the past several years, will endeavor to stock trout seven inches and over. Formerly about 75 per cent of the fish coming off the hatchery trucks were of that size or over and three per cent of the fish were two years old and went from 12-18 inches in size. The same ratios will take place again this year, but the new, no size limit, on trout has removed one of the sources of grumbling of past seasons. No longer can it be said that stockers under 7 inches in length are a waste of money since any size trout may now be taken. This corner is willing to bet all comers that anglers will soon find another pet gripe to replace this outmoded one. Any takers?

Frank Kraus, the excellent fish chairman of the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen Clubs, is busy notifying the fish chairman of the individual clubs, when the hatchery trucks are due in their area. It might be well to check and see whether Frank has the name of your chairman. Each year there are complaints of clubs not being notified and annually there are insinuations that trout were placed where they didn't belong. If you are really interested in seeing to it that the trout are placed where designated by the District Fishery Manager, volunteer to help plant the trout when your area stunts are stocked.

SPORTSMEN ASSISTANCE HELPFUL

The Conservation Department's program consists of a fall stocking of fingerlings in some streams and in the spring, the placing of mature fish in local waters. In the larger waters of the county, there are usually three successive drops of fish, commencing in late March and ending prior to Decoration Day. The sad state of affairs of stocking after the season is open is an admission that the Chambers of Commerce have more influence than they should have in saying how the sportsman's dollar should be spent. Clearly, May stocking of fish is for the frying pan angler and not for the individual who enjoys fishing for fishing's sake.

Because stocking occurs for only a relatively few weeks in the year, it is difficult for the Conservation Department to hire sufficient personnel to handle the fish planting operation. Then too, the cost would have to be borne by the license holder as are all fish and game operations. The enthusiastic volunteer support given the department by local sportsmen in "Operation Fish Handling," saves thousands of dollars annually. Besides, it is fun to see trout at this season of the year even though the water is awfully cold. Then too, it's only 21 days before opening day.

Donnelly-Tibbs Fight Scheduled

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo meet Tommy Tibbs of Boston in lightweight Jackie Donnelly will a 10-round bout April 3 in Memorial Auditorium, it was announced today.

It will be Donnelly's first appearance in Buffalo in 11 months. He dropped a 12-round decision to former Buffalonian Bobby Scanlon, for the New York State Lightweight Championship, in his last hometown fight.

Donnelly has recent wins over Benny Gordon and Chico Velez in New York.

Stilt Hits Career High of 67

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Will Chamberlain has passed another milestone in his fabulous career, cracking a 12-year-old Philadelphia Warriors' club record by scoring 67 points in one game.

The 7-foot-1 Chamberlain's outburst Thursday night in a 135-126 victory over New York was the most points he's ever scored in a single game and it broke the 1949 mark of 63 by Joe Fuls, his previous high had been 58.

Chamberlain fell five points short of breaking the National Basketball Association record of 71 set by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles last November.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Bill Russell's field goal with 15 seconds left gave Boston a 119-118 victory over Detroit, dropping the Pistons into a tie with Cincinnati for the only remaining play-off spot in the Western Division. Each club has two games left to play.

Tony Fuoco Unloads 289 Solo in Sportsman

Tony Fuoco cracked a 289 single in last night's session of the Sportsman's League. The 289 was his middle after a 174 opener. In the excitement he dipped to 137 for an even 600.

Lou Pulcastro, one of the top bowling finds of the season, unloaded 657 with 225, 226, 206 in the International League. Jack Houghtaling decked 218-236-194 for 648 in the Mixed Foursome.

Basilio Is Ready For Don Jordan

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Carmen Basilio says he's ready for his scheduled 10-round fight here with Don Jordan Friday night but he's keeping a close watch on his weight.

Basilio must weigh in at no more than 155 pounds for the nationally televised bout, expected to draw a capacity crowd of 7,500 at the War Memorial Auditorium. The former welterweight and middleweight champion said Thursday that he was in top shape, weighed 153½, and predicted he would be down to 155 or under when he steps on the scale Friday noon.

He boxed four fast rounds Thursday and planned roadwork for today.

Geoffrian Piles Up Bonus Money

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Boom Boom Geoffrian already has earned $3,600 in bonus money this season and by right he should share some of it with the New York Rangers.

The star Montreal right winger scored three times Thursday night as the Canadiens moved into a tie for first place with Toronto in the National Hockey League by beating the Rangers 6-1. Detroit clinched a Stanley Cup playoff spot by defeating Boston 5-2 in the only other game.

Geoffrian's goals gave him 46 for the season and 300 for his career. His 1960-61 contract calls for a $1,000 bonus for scoring 20 times and $100 for each goal over that total. In the seven games against the Rangers at Montreal's Forum, all won by the Canadiens, Geoffrian had 14 goals.

DETROIT — (NEA) — It was a long time between catching passes in regular season play for Detroit Lions end Steve Junker. He was out with an injury in 1958 and held without a reception in six games in '59. He finally caught a pass in the fifth game of 1960.

Negro Saint Likely

ROME (AP)—Steps now underway at the Vatican indicate that canonization may be near for Martin de Porres, the Negro lay brother of Peru who rose from illegitimate birth to become a leader in efforts for interracial justice and one of the most influential men of his country.

Records May Fall In Chicago News Relays Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — A skinny Hungarian army captain, who could turn in the first indoor four-minute mile, and a pair of high school distance stars elbow for the spotlight in the 25th Chicago Daily News Relays tonight.

The Banker's Mile will gain most attention from an expected Chicago Stadium crowd of 12,000 as Hungary's Istvan Rozsavolgyi, 31, fresh from a 4:01.8 effort, tries to crack the four-minute barrier on the boards.

One of Rozsavolgyi's rivals will be Bruce Kidd, 17, of Toronto, youngest athlete ever to win a National AAU title, which he took in the three-mile run. The Canadian schoolboy recently ran the two-mile indoors in 8:49.2, second fastest time for the event ever recorded in this country.

The other schoolboy star is Tom Sullivan, 18, Chicago St. George High School senior who is entered in the Harry Gill 1,000-yard run against such seasoned joggers as Ed Moran of Penn State and Olympian Peter Close.

Sullivan got a standing ovation from 13,000 fans in Los Angeles earlier this winter when he ran a 4:13.7 mile.

Rozsavolgyi's 4:01.8 clocking in last week's Knights of Columbus meet in New York was only four-tenths of a second off Don Delaney's indoor mile record of 4:01.4 set in 1959. Rozs's other rivals in the Baker's Mile include Charles (Deacon) Jones, a 4:07.8 winner of the Boston K of C Mile this winter and Lt. Lew Stiegitz, winner of the Chicago Relays two-mile title in 1959.

Bill Mazeroski took a firm hold, swung at Ralph Terry's second pitch and drilled a ninth inning homer that gave Pittsburgh a 10-9 victory over the New York Yankees and the world baseball championship of 1960.

That was on last Oct. 13. Today, the Pirates help open the 1961 exhibition season. They meet the Cincinnati Reds in Fort Myers, Fla., while Detroit faces the Chicago White Sox at Sarasota, Fla., in the only other game.

Saturday all 18 big league teams will see action.

Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh is wasting no time getting his regulars ready for the opening of the regular season. He has tapped Vernon Law, Bob Friend and Elroy Face to work against the Reds today.

Detroit's new manager, Bob Schefeling, will test Don Mossi, Paul Foytack and Ray Narleski against the White Sox.

Several other managers will be leading with aces this weekend. Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Bob Turley of the Yankees, Bill Monbouquette of Boston and Robin Roberts of Philadelphia are other leading pitchers slated to work.

Spotlight on Rookies
In most cases, the spotlight will be on rookies such as outfielder Willie Davis of the Dodgers and Jay Hankins of Kansas City and shortstop Jim Fregosi of the Angels.

Willie Davis is last year's Pacific Coast batting king. Hankins, up from Shreveport of the Southern Association, was voted the most valuable player in the A's five squad games. Fregosi, who played Class D ball in 1960, was chosen to start against the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The Indians start their exhibition against San Francisco Saturday. The remainder of the day's slate matches Milwaukee and Philadelphia at Clearwater, Fla.; St. Louis and New York at St. Petersburg, Fla.; Cincinnati and the White Sox at Sarasota; Pittsburgh and Baltimore at Miami and Detroit and the Minnesota Twins at Orlando, Fla.

The Cubs and A's will split their squads. One Kansas City team will meet the Dodgers at Vero Beach, Fla., and the other takes on Washington at Pompano Beach. One Cub unit is booked against the Angels at Palm Springs, Calif., and the second against Boston at Mesa, Ariz.

Rensselaer-St. Lawrence Hockey Clash Is Toss-Up

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—No matter how you look at it, the clash between Rensselaer Polytechnic and St. Lawrence, at the NCAA hockey tournament in Denver next Thursday, is anybody's pick.

The two Upstate teams will be carrying the East's hopes with them. It's the first time the two have been picked to play together. And, under new tourney rules, East will meet East and West will meet West in the preliminary games; thereby insuring an East-West final.

At first glance, it would seem St. Lawrence, with its two victories over RPI this season, would be the favorite. The Engineers lost only two games all year, and the two losses to the Saints were by one goal each.

But, looking at things another way, you'll find the Saints lost three games, and to teams RPI defeated.

As for the Western competition, although the teams have not been selected yet, they're sure, as always, to be tough. St. Lawrence and RPI have competed in the national tourney before, along with a representative from New England.

In 1953, RPI won the consolation game. A year later the Engineers brought home the trophy. It was the second time in the tourney's 13-year history that an Eastern team won the championship. Boston College was the other winner.

St. Lawrence has a long history of tourney competition. This year will be the third straight time for the Saints and the sixth in the last ten years. They finished last a year ago. Five of six seniors are among the regulars who have made the last two trips.

The Engineers, coached by Ned Harkness, this year have a record of 13-21 against Eastern NCAA teams, while coach George Melnard's Saints stand 9-3.

Inman Has Four Stroke Lead in Pensacola Open

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Walker Inman's best showing in PGA golf was a tie for seventh in the Milwaukee Open in 1957, but today he held a four-stroke lead in the Pensacola Open.

Inman fired a 4-under-par 68 in the opening round, coming in with a fine 31 on the back nine in his first tourney this year.

Inman, 31, needed only 28 putts on his first competitive round. He said his irons did the trick for him.

Inman was two strokes ahead of George Bayer, Dave Ragan and Jimmy Clark going into the second round of the $20,000 meet.

Bunched behind them at 71 were Jack McGowan, Gerald Sota and Marty Furgol. Tommy Jack, Bobby Nichols, Don Fairfield, Tommy Bolt and Dow Finsterwald were at 72.

Arnold Palmer, defending champion here, started off with two birdies and posted a one-over-par 73.

The field will be cut to the low 60 and ties after today's round. The tournament continues through Sunday.

Warming Trend Due by Weekend

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The extended forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Eastern New York — Warming trend over the weekend. Somewhat cooler early next week and then warming again. Temperatures averaging around seasonal levels. Chance of some light snow or flurries late Saturday night or Sunday and another precipitation period, mostly rain about Tuesday. Total precipitation averaging under one-half inch in water content.

Some very fine weather conditions for flow of maple sap with best days Saturday and beginning of next week.

Western New York—Continued very changeable weather is indicated. Temperatures are expected to average a little above normal. Fair and warmer Saturday. Showers and cooler Sunday. Moderating Monday, probably followed by showers or snow flurries and colder Tuesday. Less than one-half inch of melted precipitation is expected.

Temperature normals — Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now average daytime highs of 34-42, to overnight lows of 15-20 in the north and in the 20s in the south.

Plattekill Democrats To Nominate Officers

Members of Plattekill Township Democratic Club will nominate officers Tuesday, March 14, at the Town Hall building. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

In addition, a film dealing with the success of a building planning code in Puerto Rico, will be on view.

Ony P. Orłowski, president, will conduct the meeting.

$6,990 Is Low Bid For Highland Work

A New York City firm, Staples Floorcraft Co., Inc., submitted a low bid of $6,990 for installation of floor covering in Highland Training School for Boys, the State Department of Public Works announced today. Four bids were received.

Low bids totaling $582,017.50 on 12 projects for construction, repairs and alterations to state-owned facilities were opened in Albany Wednesday, according to J. Burch McMorran, superintendent of public works.

Floyd Guest of Graham

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson was a platform guest of Billy Graham when the evangelist addressed a Crusade for Christ audience of 10,700 at Convention Hall.

Patterson, who defends his title against Ingemar Johansson in the same hall Monday, was given a bible by Graham.

Save "Heating" Dollars with our

"Save-the-Warmth" Service!

Imagine! There are at least 130,000 heat units in every gallon of heating oil you buy! That's a treasure of warmth which you hand over to your heating plant to use.

Now, even a good, hard-working heating plant gets extravagant at times, and that is why our "Save-the-Warmth" Service is important to you. In 20 minutes it scientifically detects extravagance in your heating plant, then takes over to put a stop to it. As a result, you save warmth—and dollars.

Don't let your heating plant be extravagant with the warmth you buy. Save the warmth with Mobilheat Automatic Personal Care. Call us today for all the facts!

Meets FEDERAL and STATE HIGHWAY SPECIFICATIONS

When you buy culvert pipe, you are making a long-term investment, and you want to get the best. For more than 25 years, Wheeling Corrugated Culverts have been standing up under the severest kind of use. Both Wheeling Pure Iron and Copper Steel culverts offer extra protection, because they are zinc coated. Whether it's Copper Steel you want or Pure Iron, Wheeling Galvanized Corrugated Culverts are made to comply with Federal and all State Highway Specifications.
